Washington—Some interesting exchanges are going on among the foreign offices of the world with respect to the American reservations to the world court protocol.

Senator Swanson, Democrat, who has been at Geneva and is now back here in frequent consultation with Secretary Kellogg, has been hopeful that some formula could be worked out permitting American adherence to the court.

The latest suggestion is that all the powers accept the famous fifth reservation without comment at this time, and that if a specific case arises which makes it difficult for the court to function because of supposed American obstruction, the situation be met by a concerted movement to amend the statutes of the court.

HYPOTHETICAL CASE
In other words, most of the opposition to the fifth reservation at Geneva was based on a hypothetical case which might never exist. It was presumed that the American veto power would be exercised in a broad sense wherever American interests were involved even remotely.

No such contingency is expected by American officials, European governments, for instance, may have overlooked the fact that the interpretation of a treaty on international law must be made by the executive branch of the government, which through the department of state conducts diplomatic relations. The question of whether a specific controversy did or did not involve an American interest would be decided by the department, which, it is pointed out, would never veto an advisory opinion in an emergency that might otherwise lead to war.

GOOD FAITH OF U. S.
The good faith of the American government to use its veto power wisely and in a manner that could not provoke serious objection is counted on here to offset most of the arguments that have been made against the acceptance of the fifth reservation.

President Coolidge has let it be known significantly that no matter what the position at this time he will not withdraw the application for American admission. In other words at the next meeting of the Geneva assembly the matter will still be on the program ready for action by individual members of the league. Also there is ample opportunity for exchange of views by diplomatic note between now and the next meeting of the league.

WILL TAKE NO ACTION
For purely political reasons not much will be said or done between now and Nov. 2. The administration is not borrowing trouble on the world court issue.

There is harmony in the Republican ranks and the president is for the moment concerned that his party shall retain control of both houses. After the elections the problem may come up for discussion but with a minimum of comment from the Washington end of the tangle.

JARDINE SAYS U. S. CAN MEET COTTON SITUATION

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Secretary
Jardine expressed confidence Friday that the present and potential credit resources of the country are entirely adequate to meet the requirements of the present cotton crop, however bountiful it may prove.

Replying to a letter from Edward
A. O'Neill, professor of the Alabama Farm Bureau federation, who had described the situation as grave, the agricultural secretary declared he was certainly that the situation was very largely due to panic conditions which, he hoped, would be temporary.

"We have the necessary facilities for storing the crop for months or if need be for a year and ample credit to carry it. Cotton in storage is probably the soundest basis for credit that we know."

NORTHERN MERCHANT DENIES BURNING STORE

Crandon—(AP)—Vincent Klopka Armstrong Creek merchant, pleaded not guilty in court here Thursday to a charge of burning his store and stock to defraud the insurance company.

Adjournment was taken to Oct. 20.
The arrest was made by Deputy Fire Marshal William A. Greenwald.

Judge Gary, 80 Years Old, Still Active in Business

New York—(AP)—Elbert H. Gary was 80 years old Friday, but his birthday was just another working day for the optimistic chairman of the United States Steel corporation who expected
He intends to continue his duties, but recognized the prospect that he will be "off the boards" some time.
"Not that I have any intention of resigning," he said, "but I want to be prepared for the inevitable and want others to be prepared also."

LABOR UNIONS DISAGREE ON EDDY SPEECH

Y. M. C. A. Speaker Expresses Disapproval of Federation's Policy

Detroit—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention faced a new dilemma Friday in swelling tide of sentiment favoring action disavow-ing the address of a convention guest publicly charged by a number of delegates with having violated the courtesy of the floor.

Members of the executive council of the federation deliberated upon a possible course of action regarding the remarks of Sherman Eddy, who was introduced Thursday by President William Green as secretary for Asia of the International Y. M. C. A.
Granted an opportunity to talk, Eddy launched into a report of an industrial survey of Europe, and in conclusion challenged the policies of the Federation of International Labor relations and expressed vigorous disagreement with the repeatedly defined attitude of the federation toward Russia.

NOT IN MINUTES
The official minutes of the convention distributed Friday did not carry Mr. Eddy's address. Only a paragraph recorded his appearance before the convention. The official text read:
"Dr. Eddy addressed the convention.
He stated that he was secretary for Asia for the Young Men's Christian association but did not appear before the convention in his official capacity.
During the course of his statement he gave information in regard to conditions as he saw them in Russia, France, Germany and England during a visit to those countries last summer."

JACKIE COOGAN'S CURLS REPLACED BY BOYISH BOB

Los Angeles, Calif.—Jackie Coogan, child film star, Friday anxiously awaited the call to a barber's chair to have his Lord Fauntleroy locks sacrificed for a boyish bob. The transformation was agreed to by the house of Coogan, that Jackie might realize a five year ambition to abandon the childish curls, despite the pleadings of his parents and the demands of the screen.

MRS. CHILD STARTS SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Paris—(AP)—Mrs. Richard Washburn Child has instituted divorce proceedings against her husband who was former United States ambassador to Italy.

Grounds for the action were not disclosed, and Mrs. Child declined Friday to make any comment. The former ambassador and his wife have been married for more than a year, their friends ascribing their difficulties largely to differences in temperament.

Mrs. Child, who was given custody of their two little daughters has been in Paris for the greater part of the last 12 months.

Mr. Child is expected to arrive in Paris shortly, but presumably is unaware of his wife's application for divorce.

Mrs. Child was formerly Miss Maude Parker. They were married in August, 1916. Mr. Child was assistant to Frank A. Vanderlip in the war financing work of the United States treasury in 1917-18, was editor of Collier's weekly in 1919, and was appointed ambassador to Italy in May, 1921, serving until February, 1924. Both he and his wife are well-known writers.

ARREST TWO MEN IN BANK ROBBERY

One Bandit in Kenosha Hold-up Makes Full Confession to Police

Kenosha—(AP)—Arrest of the two men who entered the Commercial Exchange bank in Kenosha last Tuesday and got away with $9,851 and the recovery of nearly all of that amount was reported Friday by the Kenosha police. When four detectives brought two Racine men to the Kenosha jail on charges of robbery, both men confessed police said.

They gave their names as Leo Draves, 23 and Carlos Justeson, 28.
Draves was first arrested on Tuesday night, but was later released when bank employees failed to identify him.
He was rearrested on Wednesday night and on Thursday afternoon he made a complete confession, naming Justeson as his partner in the job.

Draves declared that they only took $8,000 on the job, and that they divided it $4,000 to each. Draves' money was found in a box under his porch and Justeson's share was found in a sack in the closet of a room at his home.

GETS $1,500 REWARD

Superior, Wis.—(AP)—Six Superior
police, who caught Matthew McNeil, Milwaukee Northwestern bank robber as he was suspected of preparing to rob a bank in Superior on last July 12, will get $1,500 reward, they were notified by J. V. Quarles, Milwaukee, an attorney for the Milwaukee Clearing House association which is paying the reward.

CONDUCTOR IS HURT IN FREIGHT TRAIN WRECK

Madison—(AP)—Conductor E. E.
Smoot, Milwaukee, was injured at 9:15 Friday morning when the freight train on which he was riding was partly wrecked by a derailment as it pulled into the receiving yards of the Milwaukee road here.

Smoot was hurt when he was jolted about in the caboose of the train as it came to a sudden stop.

Three of the sixty cars of the train were piled up when a drawbar on one of them worked loose and fell onto the tracks. The wreck blocked the place where the Northwestern road tracks cross those of the Milwaukee road, paralyzing traffic on both lines for some time. An engine was derailed from Stouten to hook onto the rear of the wrecked freight and pull it clear of the Northwestern tracks.

DRAKE COACH SCOUTS GRID GAME AT MADISON

Des Moines—(AP)—While the varsity squad is in the east for Saturday's game with the Navy, assistant football coaches of Drake university are pointing for future contests. Coach Jack Sparks will leave Friday night for Madison to scout the Wisconsin-Kansas university contest in preparation for Drake's game with the Jay Hawks here Oct. 20. While Sparks is sojourning in the Badger state in other assistant coach, Bill Boelter, will be eyeing the Oklahoma Sooners at Norman. The Sooners play here
Oct. 16.

KUTCHIN HEADS STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Madison—(AP)—All curators of the Wisconsin State Historical society whose terms expired this year were re-elected at the annual meeting of the society Thursday. Victor Kutchin, in Green Lake, was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles N. Brown.

ENEMY FORCES WILL GRANT NO TERMS TO CITY

Wuchang Is Sealed Tomb of Dead and Dying, in Grip of Famine

Peking—(AP)—Foreign dispatches from Hankow say that at least fifty thousand persons have died in Wuchang during the siege by the Red Cantonese army. Most of these are said to have died of starvation.

Hankow dispatches state that 500 coffins have been shipped to Wuchang to bury refugees trampled or drowned in the rush for boats.

ANCIENT CITY VACATED

Hankow, China—(AP)—The classical city of Wuchang—established more than a thousand years before the birth of Christ—is being emptied of its civilian population or that portion of which it is humanly possible to transport across the two miles of placid Yangtze river to Hankow before Oct. 10 when the bombardment by the besieging Cantonese is scheduled to begin.

The Red Cross and other agencies as yet have been able to bring across the river only approximately 40,000 refugees.

For five weeks the city has been a sealed tomb of dead and dying. The streets are strewn with corpses and the populace is slowly starving to death.

NO TERMS GRANTED

The stubborn fury of its defense by the northern forces was born of the refusal of the besiegers to grant any terms of surrender.

Announcement of the intention of the Cantonese to bombard Wuchang came on Thursday. The northern army had consented to permit some of the thousands of non-combatants to depart.

Seemingly only one thing can avert the slaughter that must inevitably ensue. This would be the success of General Sun Chien-shan's efforts to cut the line of communications of the southern army, forcing withdrawal from around Wuchang.

Sun, the principal overlord of the five eastern provinces, is making a desperate attempt to save the blockaded garrison.

WANT NEW YORK OUT OF LAKE DIVERSION SUIT

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Illinois and the Chicago Sanitary district Thursday filed with the Supreme court a memorandum opposing the motion of Michigan and New York for permission to join in opposing the diversion of water from Lake Michigan.

Holding that Michigan already had such a proceeding pending and would participate in the hearing of the suit which Wisconsin and other lake states have brought, Illinois and the Sanitary district asserted New York wished to appear as owner of Niagara and St. Lawrence river water rights, which would raise important questions with reference to powers of federal water power commission and the constitutionality of the law creating it, both questions not now appearing in the Wisconsin or Michigan cases.

NAB ANOTHER MEMBER OF AUTO THEFT RING

Indiana Police Hold Man for Complicity in Automobile
Theft

Chicago—(AP)—The eighth arrest in connection with the operations of an Illinois-Wisconsin automobile theft ring was announced by the police Thursday night on receipt of information that Peter McIntyre was being held in Kendall, Ind., for the Chicago police. James Connor, who Wednesday night attempted to dig his way to freedom through the walls of the Elkhorn, Wis. jail and four others arrested with him on Thursday, Wisconsin, were brought to Chicago. Friday Connor's escape attempt was frustrated when the noise of his tools scraping on the jail wall attracted attention.

Arrested with Connor at Darlen were Avera, 28, alleged gang leader, Cornelius Toner, 35, Clarence Peterson, 18, all of Chicago and Thomas Mc-Intyre 25 of Darlen.

Thursday Mrs. Blanche Avera, 25, wife of Irving Avera, and Mrs. Minnie Sutton, 23, were arrested here and booked on charges of receiving stolen property.

The police were searching for Harry L. Sutton, 25, husband of the woman under arrest, and who police believe is the last member of the gang. Detectives have recovered fifty automobiles which were stolen from Chicago owners and sold to small town residents and farmers in Wisconsin.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IS JURY'S VERDICT IN MINE DISASTER

Ironwood, Mich.—(AP)—A coroner's jury investigating the death of the three miners crushed when the cage in a Pabst mine plunged to the bottom of G. shaft, returned a verdict of accidental death Thursday. Forty-three miners were entombed in the mine for five days following a cave in at the eighth level.

Mining captains testified that the shaft was safe as far as they knew and no trouble had been experienced of late except at the eighteenth level two months ago.
One of the entombed miners said he would not have entered the shaft had he thought it was unsafe.

BUCKNER SUMS UP DAUGHERTY CASE FOR JURY

Proof of Conspiracy Sufficient to Compel Conviction, Attorney Says

New York—(AP)—If the proof of conspiracy in the Daugherty-Miller case is not sufficient to procure conviction the courts of the United States may expect well to have but one of the "little fellows," United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner said Friday.

Buckner was making his summation for the government in the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, who are charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States.

"The defense has based on a lack of evidence in this case," Buckner said. "Direct evidence? What do they expect me to show? Do they expect me to have had one of my assistants under the bed in that house on H street in Washington to listen to what Daugherty and his faithful Gillie dog, Jess Smith, talked about?"

GOFF, 'RUBBER STAMP'

"The best evidence in this case is silent evidence. There are those five, ten, thousand-dollar bonds that were found in Miller's accounts. They bore the same serial number as bonds Richard Merton paid to John T. King, and Miller was in New York when those bonds were paid."

Painting Senator Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia, formerly of Milwaukee, as a "poor broken down old man," Buckner described him as a "rubber stamp" which had been used by the alleged conspirators to sign the approval papers of the claims, without ever knowing anything about them.

"I do not know if he knew what was going on, nor do I think poor Goff was lying. That is no doubt Jesse Smith did tell him the claim should be passed."

NO CHARGE OF INVALIDITY

The validity of the $7,000,000 claims involved in the trial has nothing at all to do with the case, Buckner said Friday in his summation to the jury.
Much of the evidence in the trial of Daugherty and Miller, centered on the question of validity of the two claims Richard Merton, German metal magnate presented in 1921 for the society
Suizpe Four Valeurs De Metaux.

The indictment does not charge the claims were invalid. That is a point outside the case. The government sought to show you the claims were so full of holes that even the most incompetent of subordinates would never have passed them without consulting their bosses, unless they had been told before that the bosses wanted these claims passed. It was simply an additional proof that the claims could not have been passed if Daugherty and Miller had not wanted them to pass," declared Buckner.

ESKIMO WOMAN KILLS HER DEMENTED HUSBAND

St. Johns, N. F.—(AP)—How a little Eskimo woman fought to the death with her demented husband on a lonely Labrador island to save herself and two children from being killed by him was tragically related in supreme court Thursday. The wife, Julienne Tutu, was acquitted.

Julienne and her husband and their children were the sole inhabitants of the island. She told how, with her own body broken and bruised by blows from her husband's run during the struggle she did not hesitate to stab him and then riddle his body with bullets.

GLENNA COLLETT BEATS CHICAGO GIRL AT GOLF

Philadelphia—(AP)—Glenna Collett Friday won the Berthelton golf cup when she defeated Virginia Wilson, Chicago, who dethroned her last week in the national championship tournament at Haverford, Pa., the former champion won five up and four to play.

SHACK FOUND IN KIDNAPING CASE, REPORT

Two Persons, Resembling Alleged Abductors, Also Seen on Ranch

Los Angeles—(AP)—More desert lore remained Friday those recording the details of the Almee Semple McPherson kidnaping story of the preliminary hearing of the Angeles temple pastor and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy on charges of conspiracy.

Interest in the evangelist's story of having escaped a kidnaper's hut has been increased by reports that a ranch house resembling the shack described by her as the one in which she was held captive has been located near Wellton, Ariz.

Two persons fitting into Mrs. Mc-Pherson's story as "Rose" and "Steve" her alleged abductors, are said to have been spotted on the Well-ton ranch. The discovery was reported in press dispatches Thursday night from Yuma, Ariz., and credited to Jack Chiss, an investigator for District Attorney, Keyes. The Well-ton ranch adjoins that of H. A. Hollenbeck, a friend of Mrs. McPherson.
The Arizona report is "scouted by Keyes."

Alonso B. Muhichson, Douglas police officer, and desert trailer who testified Thursday, is expected to be cross examined Friday.

MURCHISON IS GRILLED

Murchison was subjected to a merciless grilling by W. D. Gilbert, defense attorney, and testified that he had not visited a shack at San Juan Springs, located about 20 miles from Agua Prieta, Mexico, Gilbert questioned.

As the eighth day of the hearing ended, Keyes' detectives continued the search for Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angeles temple, who the state charges, aided Mrs.
McPherson in manufacturing evidence. The officers were reported to have obtained more documentary evidence that Ormiston and the evangelist were registered in separate hotel rooms the day she disappeared.

MOB KILLS THREE NEGROES IN SOUTH

One Woman Included Among Victims, Accused of Murder, Who Were Shot

Aiken, S. C.—(AP)—A mob early Friday stormed the Aiken jail seized three Negroes one of them a woman, and shot them to death in a pine thicket just beyond the city limits.

The Negroes were Clarence and Damon Lowman and the latter's sister, Bertha Lowman. They were on trial a second time for murder in connection with the death of Sheriff H. H.
Howard of Aiken, who was slain at the Negroes' home in 1925, when accompanied by several deputies he went to raid the home of Sam Lowman, father of Damon and Bertha Lowman and uncle of Clarence Lowman. On their first trial the Negroes were convicted but a new trial was granted by the state supreme court. This trial began early this week.

Thursday Special Judge S. T. Lanham, presiding directed a verdict of "not guilty" for Damon Lowman on the charge of conspiracy to murder.

PEABODY IS MODERATOR OF CONGREGATIONALISTS

Sparta—(AP)—The Rev. H. E. Peabody, pastor of the Congregational church of Appleton, was elected moderator of Congregational churches in the state at the closing session of the Wisconsin conference here. The body voted to meet next year at Fond du Lac.

ceedings in Paris. Before her marriage, Mrs. Child was Miss Maude

ADAMS GAINS STRENGTH IN INDIANA FIGHT

Publisher's Battle Against Corruption Enlists Aid of Governor

Indianapolis—(AP)—D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan now serving a life sentence in state prison at Michigan City, was ordered brought to Indianapolis by Superior Court Judge Sidney Miller. Stephenson is wanted here to testify in receivership proceedings against the Hoodier Tailors, Incorporated, a company in which he was financially interested.

Efforts to gain access to Stephenson at the state prison have been made unsuccessfully for several days by Thomas H. Adams, Vincennes publisher, who contends that the former Klan leader is ready to surrender evidence in corroboration of Adams' allegations of corruption in Indiana politics.

OFFICIALS PROMISE AID

Adams' ardor for prosecuting the investigation was not cooled by proposals of officials to proceed along the same lines. He planned a meeting Friday of state senators and newspaper publishers to discuss the "Big Three" for, Governor Jackson, Attorney General Gilliam and Will H. Remy, Marion-co prosecutor, expressed a willingness to participate in a political house cleaning.

John J. Duval, mayor of Indianapolis named by Adams as violating the corrupt practices act, said he was preparing a libel suit.

Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, issued a statement at Washington, asserting Stephenson had been banished from the Klan after he had been convicted by his local Klan at Evansville on charges of Klan immorality. He added that Stephenson's alleged political acts "affect his conduct since and not before his banishment from the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan."

HARVARD MAY NOT PLAY MICHIGAN NEXT SEASON

New Haven, Conn.—(AP)—The "Big Three" in eastern football—Yale, Harvard and Princeton—may not meet again next year, as Harvard and Princeton presumably will not play
Michigan next year as contemplated.

Tentative proposal that the University of Michigan replace Princeton on Harvard's football schedule in 1927 has been withdrawn by Harvard at a meeting of the chairman of athletics of the three institutions it was announced at Yale.

"The substitution would be 'counter to the understanding and practice of the triple agreement, it was mutually agreed after full conference," a statement said.

"Bud" Doesn't Care What Society Says Of Wedding

New York—(AP)—Bud Stillman, heir to a little fortune, is little concerned over what New York society will receive Lena Wilson, the little backwoods girl from Canada he expects to make his wife.

He is more interested in plans for their marriage some time in June, and in the unqualified approval of the match expressed by James A. Stillman, his banker father.

"I don't see that it matters," Stillman said. "Personally I'm not interested in society. After we're married I expect to settle down and have friends, and it won't matter much to me whether they're in society or what they're doing so long as I like them."
His fiancée is an old-fashioned girl, he says. She dances, but mostly waltzes and the old fashioned square dances, the steps which she taught

MAKE INQUIRY INTO ALLEGED GRAFT BY COPS

Demand That Chief Collins

Allege Detective Squad Heads Had Dealings With Bootleggers

Chicago—(AP)—The Chicago Journal said Friday that it had information that the federal government is ready to indict 150 Chicago policemen and police officers up to and including several lieutenants for conspiring with bootleggers to violate the prohibition law. The Journal said the indictments were ready to be voted on and could be expected to be returned soon, and declared that much of the government's evidence traced back to the Genna sisters, three of whose members were killed in battles with police and gunmen.

Chicago—(AP)—Federal operatives under A. P. Madden, head of the social intelligence unit, Friday arrested a government investigation into liquor charges involving members of the Chicago police department.

Partick Roche, ace of government sluths, who supplied the evidence which led to indictment of 75 Clementine men, including the mayor and chief of police opened the investigation into liquor charges involving members of the Chicago police department.

SMOKING IN BED, POURING OILS ON FIRES DANGEROUS

Deaths from Burns and Explosions Are Numerous, Experts State

The National Fire Waste Council which is affiliated with the Insurance Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is making a study of deaths and injuries caused by fire through its committee on fire casualty statistics. Although the committee's work is not yet completed, sufficient reports have been received to indicate that among the hazards causing life loss, several predominate. Some of the more important causes enumerated in the reports are using kerosene to kindle or quicken a fire, smoking in bed, playing with matches and clothes igniting from bonfires and brush fires.

Kerosene should never be used to hasten a fire in a stove. In numerous instances which have been reported, a flame flashed back into the pan, causing it to ignite and explode and resulting in death or injury to the person nearby. All inflammable liquids should be kept away from fires and never used to ignite them. It may take a little longer to build a fire without their aid, but it is much safer.

The hazards of smoking in bed are so obvious that they need not be enumerated. The cases reported to the committee include both men and women. While cigarettes are usually blamed for such fires, one death was due to a fire started by a pipe which the victim was smoking. The reports indicate a number of deaths of children by playing with matches. Parents are urged to keep matches out of reach of youngsters at all times. A safe practice is to keep them in metal containers so that even if they are ignited in some manner, they will burn out in the container without igniting any other object.

Children are usually attracted by bonfires and in their play may get too close to the flames. Just recently a little girl in Minnesota stopped to watch a brush fire. Her clothing caught fire and she ran home. Her mother managed to tear the flaming garments from her, but the girl was so severely burned that she died the same evening. If the child had been taught to lie down on the ground when her clothing caught on fire and then roll over slowly until the flames were extinguished, her life might have been saved. By running she fanned the flames and as a result was so badly burned that it was impossible to save her life.

Harry K. Rogers, the well-known fire clown of the Western Amusement bureau, was told recently by a little girl who had been seriously burned in a similar accident that she had saved her life by following instructions she had received from him in school several years before.

CHERRY-ST BOULEVARD BEING GRADED, SEEDED

Cherry-st boulevard from the bridge to W. Seymour-st has been graded, raked and seeded, but growing grass is hindered by motorists who drive off the road and on the soft ground, leaving deep tracks behind them, according to R. F. Hackworth, street commissioner.

In one place, at the north end of the boulevard, one motorist left the road at the beginning of the boulevard and drove along the freshly planted ground for about 25 feet, leaving a broad trail behind him. In many places autos have torn up the earth beside the road. Motorists are cautioned to be more careful, as the work of beautifying the entrance to the city is greatly impeded by this carelessness.

It is hoped that the entire boulevard to Foster-st will be completed within the next two weeks. It is necessary to fill in the deeper holes with clay, and put black loam ground on top. Several men are at work on the boulevard now.

Face and neck covered with eruption Resinol cleared it away

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 26:—"I think Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are wonderful—I was a sufferer from skin trouble and I know what they did for me. I had only a few pimples at first, but this infection soon spread until they covered my face and neck and made me look disgraceful. They irritated me so I could scarcely keep my fingers off them. I tried various treatments, but none gave more than temporary relief. A friend recommended Resinol and I bought a jar of ointment and a cake of soap. After the second application of each, the itching stopped and when I had used the Resinol products for five weeks, there was not a trace of the trouble left." (Signed), Arthur Smith, 489 Hudson Ave.

Schneller Writes Words For New Badger Song

When Wisconsin's representatives to the national convention of the American Legion take part in the sessions and parades, they will sing a new song, the words of which were written by Col. Frank Schneller, world-famous composer and author of the famous 32nd Division March, wrote the music. The song is entitled "Wisconsin," and has been adopted as the official marching song of the Wisconsin department of the Legion. Theodore Steinmetz, Ashland, world-famous composer and author of the famous 32nd Division March, wrote the music.

Mr. Steinmetz was senior band master of the American Expeditionary Forces in France during the war. His 32nd Division March is played by Sousa band in most of his concerts. Sousa led the selection at the Sesqui-centennial celebration at Philadelphia. The Wisconsin Legion bands and drum corps have been given a prominent part on the convention program and they will use the new song often. Many of these organizations are prize winners at past national conventions.

The chorus of the song follows: Wisconsin, Wisconsin, Our pride, the queen of states We hail thee; we praise thee: Our glorious Land O Lakes. (U Rah-Rah)

On Wisconsin! On Wisconsin! Never shall we fail. Our Badger land. For thee we stand. U Rah Rah Wisconsin.

LUEBKE ELECTED INSURANCE HEAD

Officers of Tornado Insurance Co. Are Named at First Meeting

Albert Luebke of Appleton has been elected president of the Hartland Cicer Mutual Tornado Insurance Co., organized Sept. 30 at the home of L. J. Bruegger of Seymour. The territory of the new company will extend over the state of Wisconsin, it was decided. The officers elected by the board of directors will hold their positions until the first annual meeting of the company.

Copies of the organization papers were sent to the State Insurance commission in Madison the first part of October by Homer C. Benton, attorney for the organization.

Small Gosse of Black Creek was chosen secretary of the company. Richard Nitzel of Bonduel, vice-president, and Gustav Drage of Bonduel, treasurer. Other members of the board of directors are L. J. Bruegger of Seymour, William Pantz of Bonduel, Fred Roenke of Seymour, Lester Weise of Appleton, and Frank Dittmann of Cicero.

DESTRUCTION BY DOGS COSTS TOWN MONEY

Dangerous dogs abound in every county in large enough numbers so that their destructive tendencies cost a considerable amount of money to each township, it was reported Monday.

Power to order such an animal shot is vested in town boards but farmers whose stock is molested must present their claims for reimbursement to the town board who in turn present the claim to the county board of supervisors for allowance or disapproval. It is estimated that several such claims will be brought before the board at fall session.

7 ASSISTANTS TO GOLF COMMITTEE NAMED THIS WEEK

Hope to Start Construction of Municipal Course Before Winter

Seven assistants to the sub-committee on golf of the community welfare committee of the chamber of commerce which is securing subscriptions to finance the municipal golf course proposed for Appleton, have been appointed, it was announced this week.

They are F. N. Belanger, Everett W. Wright, Gus Keller, Sr., J. Leslie Sensenbrenner, Herb Helble, F. F. Wettengel and T. E. Orison. Members of the golf committee are E. H. Harwood, chairman, Leotar Graf and Dr. William M. Edgar.

Enough money to start construction of the course this fall will be raised by the committee through popular subscription, it is hoped. Although scarcely any solicitation has been undertaken to date, a number of substantial contributions already have been received, it is reported.

The move for a municipal course in this city received its impetus last summer when upwards of 400 persons signed subscriptions favoring the project. The petitions read:

"We, the undersigned citizens of Appleton, are interested in and desirous of having a municipal golf course in Appleton, and hereby petition the city park commission to construct a city golf course in South park, Fourth ward."

With the assurance that there is a demand for a municipal course here, the committee has since gone ahead with its plans, and several individual subscriptions of $1,000 already have been secured, it is reported.

If the golf committee can raise from two-thirds to three-fourths of the entire cost of the project, estimated at approximately $12,000, the park commission has indicated it might have enough money to cover the difference. This estimate is made on a 9-hole course. Besides the golf course, there is enough room at the park for a ball diamond and several tennis courts, according to those familiar with the plans.

RIDING CLUB WILL PRESENT SHOW TUESDAY

More than 40 horses will be exhibited in the third annual showing of horses of the Appleton Riding club at the club ring 1112 S. Oneida-st. at 7:30 Tuesday evening, Oct. 12. The horse show will be open to the public.

Exhibitions of three and five gaited horses, hunters and a children's pony class are to be features. Expert riders will exhibit horses and put them through various tricks and exhibition rides.

According to those familiar with the plans.

The committee and its assistants will begin soliciting subscriptions within a few days, it is expected. If a sufficient sum is assured, work on the course will probably be started this fall. There will not be enough time available, of course, to complete the entire project but it is expected that at least four or five holes could be made ready. This would guarantee play over all 9 holes early next summer.

SOUSA WILL PLAY TWO NEW MARCHES AT CONCERT HERE

Dedicates One Composition to Baseball and Other to Cleveland Guards

Two new Sousa marches will be played at the concert given by the "march king" and his famous band which will play at the Lawrence Memorial chapel in the afternoon and evening of Oct. 14. Another new march, the "Sousa" march, is the new march which has been composed and written by Sousa.

Every season has seen at least one new march from the lieutenant commander, ever since he wrote the Liberty Bell for his first tour. The two marches this year will be The Black Horse, Troop dedicated to the great Cleveland and military organization, and The National Game, a baseball march.

The Sousa march always is a favorite of the popular tunes of the day, with one chosen as the theme. For the third year, the Sousa march, the theme was the Liberty Bell. Last year it was "What Do You Do on Sunday?" and the year before it was "Mr. Gallagher-Mr. Shenn."

A new suite has been added to the program, Cuba under Three Flags, which is Sousa's impression of the Cuban march. The Sousa march, the theme was the Liberty Bell. Last year it was "What Do You Do on Sunday?" and the year before it was "Mr. Gallagher-Mr. Shenn."

SEND DELEGATES TO RELIGIOUS WORK MEET

Appleton Y. M. C. A. probably will be represented at the Religious Work Institute of the central region of the association in Chicago, Oct. 23 and 24, according to George F. Werner, general secretary. The central region consists of the central states and each association in the region has been requested to send one secretary and one layman to the institute.

The institute is under the direction of George Irving of the religious work department of the national council of Y. M. C. A. Dr. John R. Mott, secretary of the national council, will be the principal speaker. Dr. Mott was elected president of the world Y. M. C. A. at the world convention held recently at Helsinki, Finland.

Miss Emma Dorman, 553 E. Pacific, opened a beauty shop at Shawano this week. Miss Dorman formerly was employed at the Dunn Beauty shop in the Conway hotel. The shop is called the Elite Beauty parlor.

CHIEF PRIM STARTS BOYS' TREASURE HUNT

Final plans for the baseball treasure hunt for boys of Appleton which will be held Saturday morning were completed Friday. The hunt will start at 10:30 at Jones park with Chief George T. Prim in charge of the "scramble." Over 100 slips of paper will be hidden, with 60 of the slips bearing "lucky messages" for the finder. Ten slips will entitle the finders to baseballs autographed by Walter Johnson, famous pitcher of the Washington Senators, when they are presented at the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. The remaining 40 slips will give the finders a swim in the association pool immediately after the hunt is over.

Johnson was chosen by Appleton boys as their favorite major league player. He has autographed the baseballs for local boys, but they have not been returned. If they are not here by Saturday the boys can receive them when they arrive by presenting the slips. All boys of Appleton can take part in the hunt.

FIND ADDRESSES OF 10,000 U. W. GRADS

Football Tickets Help Verify Addresses of Badger Alumni

Madison (AP)—Addresses of more than 10,000 graduates and former students of the University of Wisconsin were verified this year through the mailing of 42,000 football ticket application blanks. Porter Butts, alumni recorder said today.

"This is a larger number of verifications," he said, "than could be made with any other method than football ticket application blanks. We are trying to get correct addresses for each living one of the 55,000 men and women who have attended the University."

In 1925, approximately 25,000 blanks were mailed, he said. This year, 42,000 were sent out, of which 2,000 were returned unclaimed. The difference between last year's mailing—25,000—and this year's supposedly claimed applications—40,000—represents the number of addresses—15,000—which had not previously been verified. About 5,000 of unclaimed letters not returned and those which reached the addresses through forwarding or other means, and there remain 10,000 verified addresses.

BOYS START YEAR WITH 3 MEETINGS

Youngsters Meet to Hear Talks, Organize Groups and Eat

W. E. Smith, chairman of the boys' work committee of the Y. M. C. A., and A. C. Remley, a director of the association, will be the speakers at the membership "kickoffs" for boys of the association Friday and Saturday. The "kickoffs" will open at 7:30 Friday evening when the younger boys, or pioneers meet. At 1:30 Saturday afternoon the preps or Friendly Indians hold their rally and at 7:30 Saturday evening the older boys meet.

Mr. Smith will address the Friday evening meeting and Mr. Remley will talk Saturday evening. No speaker is on the prep program Saturday afternoon. Friday evening George C. Nixon will entertain with selections on his "musical saw" which he plays with a violin bow. The Blue and Orange orchestra will play a few numbers and a quartet composed of boys who attended the Onaway Island camp this summer will sing. Members of the quartet are James and Robert Miller, Manford Helms and Carol Richmond.

A. P. Jensen, physical director of the association, will tell the boys about the physical program for the year and John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary, will talk on the boys' department program. After that the boys will discuss the matter of organizing separate groups for the year. A "feed" will conclude each meeting.

Saturday evening's rally will have practically the same program except for the change of speakers but Saturday afternoon's meeting will be cut short.

SCHOOL PRINTERS TO DO SCHOOL PRINTING

The advanced printing class at Wilson junior high school started on work for the Appleton high school athletic association Thursday. The class has an enrollment of 15 boys and girls and is under the direction of Armin Gerhardt, instructor in manual arts. Outside work is not undertaken by the printing department. Dr. M. H. Small, principal, said, but some things are done for the other schools in the city.

FATHER ORDERED TO PAY FOR CAR SON WRECKED

A jury in Municipal court Thursday, awarded a verdict of $243.50 and interest at 6 per cent to the Hillegan and Kaphingst garage at Black Creek against Anton Barth, Black Creek. According to testimony, Barth's son, a minor took his car to the Hillegan garage following an accident on July 5, 1926, and ordered repairs.

Anton Barth, it was alleged, agreed to pay for the damages at a monthly rate. On presentation of the bill, however, Barth denied having agreed to pay it and refused to do so. The son started and the jury decided in favor of the plaintiff. The case was tried before Judge Theodore Berg.

MENASHA TROOPS SEEK RENEWAL OF CHARTERS

Application for the renewal of charters of two Menasha Boy Scout troops will be considered at a meeting of the Menasha district scout committee at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Menasha club. The troops concerned are troops 3 and 7. The new St. Patrick church troop will have its charter approved and appointments of three new scoutmasters and two new assistants in Menasha will be confirmed. These steps must be taken before the charters and new leaders can be approved at national scout headquarters in New York.

OOSTERHOUS WILL TELL PARENTS OF GUIDANCE WORK

Principal to Be Speaker at Meeting of Roosevelt P-T Association

Guidance work in the schools will be the subject of a talk by A. G. Oosterhous, principal, at the second regular meeting of the Roosevelt Parent Teachers association at the Roosevelt school Monday evening. The speaker also will discuss general matters of interest to parents, and changes made in the school.

The welfare of the pupils in their scholastic work and citizenship will be considered with a view to preventing failures wherever possible. Mr. Oosterhous has made a special study of the guidance plan which he will explain at the meeting and has communicated with other educators to learn in what ways they were meeting the guidance problem.

Following Mr. Oosterhous' talk, Werner Witte of the science department, will give a brief explanation of a plan adopted in Fond du Lac with the idea of its use in the junior high schools here. Parents and teachers will be given an opportunity to ask questions and to discuss the suggested plans.

Teachers at the school will be in their classrooms for consultation with parents who may wish to see them from 7:15 to 7:35 Monday evening. Dr. Earl Baker, director of music in the public schools, will open the regular

PACIFIC ISLANDS ONCE HAD NO PLANTS OR TREES

Honolulu, (AP)—In his search of the Pacific Islands for records of the past, Dr. Herbert E. Gregory, director of Bishop Polynesian Museum has made "discoveries" which lead him to believe that these islands were virtually treeless and plantless in comparison to the luxuriant growth of today. "The first visitors to Hawaiian Islands," Dr. Gregory finds, "found almost nothing to eat. They faced hardships in lack of food and, in the laborious method by which they were forced to travel across unknown seas. They traveled thousands of miles in outrigger canoes, carrying with them such fruits as the banana, the coconut and the vegetables that are found here now. Fruits and the succulent members brought with them the fruits and vegetables that now grow in profusion in the South Seas and Hawaii."

Paul Nhus of Madison, formerly a resident in Appleton, visited friends here Thursday. Nhus plans to leave soon for China.

THE JOKE REFERENDUM

Through a recent decision of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin the people of the state will vote upon a question this fall relating to prohibition. The way the question which is to be submitted to the voters is worded as well as everything else concerning the referendum is fine evidence of the farce played by Blaineism with those who cast ballots. No one could ever be more deluded than have those who desire the return of old time beer in their faith in the charlatans known as politicians. The Blaine crowd knows that there are a great many voters in Wisconsin who will vote that "wears a collar" that stands up. In order to attract the support of these people a resolution is passed by the legislature calling for a referendum, but a referendum of what? That is where the joker lies, for the people of Wisconsin are not to have the opportunity to vote for old time beer, not by a long way.

The question upon which the thirsty are to vote is merely this: that the people of Wisconsin petition the Congress of the United States to so modify the Volstead Act as to permit 2 1/2 per cent beer, and this solely upon the idea that such beer is not intoxicating and that one, if he had capacity, could drink a tubful without effect.

The result, therefore, must be merely a gesture and an unhandsome one at that. The wets may all very well vote "yes" in the referendum thinking that it is getting them some place when it is only whirling them around on a cake of ice; and the dries can very well vote "yes" in the referendum because 2 1/2 per cent beer is not intoxicating.

It is a great circus in Wisconsin but who are the clowns? We wonder if they are the voters who gulp down the 2 1/2 per cent Blaine propaganda thinking it has a kick in it.

THE STATUS OF RADIO

Radio as a means of communication has become so solidly entrenched in our modern civilization that already we should not know what to do without it. It has become a necessity, having passed from the experimental stage. But what about broadcasting? Just what might its status be today? Where has it progressed to and how important is it? Is it all things to all people? Has it added to the musical appreciation of the country? Will the future see an expansion or a contraction of this fascinating new activity?

These are some of the questions suggested by broadcasting. There are scores more, all of them important and crying to be answered. Yet no one really knows the answer at the present time. Broadcasting is an unknown quantity. As an advertising field it is just being worked out on a commercial basis.

It is our judgment that radio broadcasting has come to stay; that it will expand slowly from now on and more sanely; that many small stations will drop out in favor of large stations operated in chains; that it has added to the musical appreciation of the country; that it has aroused the interest of millions of persons in subjects and topics they never even heard of before; that it has stimulated thought and discussion; that it is rapidly being placed on a sound and paying commercial basis; that the quality of programs will improve; and that definite regulation of the air must be provided by congress at once. Radio broadcasting is at present a precarious child. It must be wisely guided and frequently curbed.

A CHANGING STANDARD

Increasing population, according to Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, will force the United States either to advance in scientific discovery or lower its standard of living. This uncompromising statement, that the nation must choose between these two alternatives if its population rises beyond the present estimate of approximately 113,500,000 is made in a foreword written by him for a pamphlet entitled "A New Departure in Higher Education," issued by the Johns Hopkins university.

It is like Mr. Hoover to disdain all the circumlocutions of involved phraseology and to come thus directly to the meat of his opinion. It is characteristic of the man. And it is also characteristic that this statement of opinion is practically a statement of fact, as acknowledged by most scientific men today.

The United States does stand on the brink of a precipice. On one side is a chasm representing a descent into a lower standard of living. On the other side is a towering peak representing the heights yet to be climbed by science. The ledge is too narrow to walk on and we must choose which we shall go, up or down.

And it must be up. Science has brought us so far along a shining road, every milestone of which represents a splendid achievement. We cannot slip back now. We must popularize science and bring the whole population to a realization of its aims and achievements, that the average citizen may aid in some small measure the accumulation of that knowledge that will enable us to raise our standard of living despite our increase in population.

There is no doubt, of course, that as our population does increase our problem will become more and more serious, and thus now is the time to lay the groundwork for even more intensive scientific investigation and research in the future.

ENGLISH RAILROADS

Peculiar as English railroad coaches look to the American eye and peculiar as the British method of management may seem, it must be admitted that they produce excellent results, from a safety standpoint, at least. For instance, last year only one passenger lost his life as the result of a railway accident in England and he died because his weak heart collapsed as the result of the excitement of the wreck. On 1901 and again on 1908 no passengers were killed in British railroad accidents. Last year over 1,700,000 passengers were carried.

Truly an excellent record. Would that our own railroads could show one as good. Very few single railroads can equal the mark of the whole British Isles. Certainly there must be a lesson in this comparison for us. It must be that British safety methods are more reliable than ours, or that some other factor enters into the equation which makes for a greater factor of safety.

Whatever the explanation is we should find it and make note of it for we greatly need more safety on our own railroads. While our trains are operated with comparative safety, and wonderful improvement has been made in the last twenty years, the toll taken by accidents in the United States is still too large, and we venture to say that most of it could be avoided by proper methods.

THE HIGH COST OF IMPROVEMENTS.
We left the men to build a room.
A simple sun room on our place.
To give the place a touch of grace.
Now here at Pointe Aux Barreaux we stay Flooded by bills which we must pay.

Perplexed we sit and sadly sigh
And wonder what it is they've built.
Is it a castle towering high
With glistening cupolas of gilt?
Or have they tacked upon our home
Some ancient masterpiece of Rome?

I think by all the bills which come
To build that small solarium.
That Michael Angelo they've hired
And give the extra space required.
Or Phidias they've called upon
To duplicate the Parthenon!

I ordered but a simple room
And fancied that I knew the cost.
But charged now I sit in gloom,
All hope for solvency is lost.
They said they'd build a sun room small,
I'm paying for a city hall.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

HALF-PAST-SPEAKING TIME

Theoretically this column deals with questions of health or hygiene. It is devoted to the purpose of teaching ordinary folk how to be healthier. Most people assume they are "well" when they are not confined to bed, under medical care, or trying some mysterious nostrum. Measured by sound standards most people are about 70 per cent healthy. In this column we endeavor to raise the standard higher, bring it up to as nearly 90 per cent as may be compatible with the vitiating influence of civilized life and social environment.

Practically it is impossible to prevent occasional mention of morbid symptoms or even definitions of disease from creeping into a column such as this. If one can evade or avoid such subjects in the second topic of the day's discussion, it is far more difficult to edit queries in such manner as to exclude everything which may prove offensive to more or less squeamish people. We can only strive to strike a happy medium which will not perturb the majority of readers. In seeking to strike this happy medium there is not a little danger of doing harm.

The other day I received from a reader a newspaper clipping with some cryptic comments jotted on the margin, which seemed to be a regular feature or department conducted by a woman. In this article the good woman made a brave beginning by declaring that the time has come for plain speaking, and then she went on to paint a horrible picture of a family of "deformed children" born to a man of unquestioned social position because the man had been rather wild in his youth and, presumably, transmitted some horrible mysterious disease to his children. The story of this family is that neither syphilis nor gonorrhea is likely to be responsible for deformities of the new born, and the publication of such a fancy can only bring unhappiness upon the heads of parents already heavily afflicted by popular prejudice. The man in this hypothetical case may have been as wild in his youth as the good woman implies in her narrative, but that has nothing to do with the "accident" that deformed children were born to him. This vicious notion is a far more likely cause of the untimely deaths which is still popular, namely, that the offspring of parents who are related within a given degree will be "deformed or feeble minded." In fact, the offspring of a union of cousins, for instance, ordinarily proves as normal as the offspring of parents of equally good or bad inheritance but unrelated. Obviously, when there is a hereditary taint in a given family, intermarriage doubles the chance of transmitting the taint to offspring. That is the sum and substance of the matter. The traditional prejudice against the marriage of cousins is, nevertheless, warranted on solid ground, for one object in marriage should be not merely to prevent deterioration but to aid betterment of the race, and it is an established principle of heredity that new blood tends to improve old, provided, of course, the new blood is good blood.

It is indeed, time for plain speaking. I should say it is now more than half past plain speaking time. The medical and health authorities assert that 80 per cent of men—eight out of every 10 men—have had gonorrhea before marriage. How many men have acquired syphilis before marriage we do not know, but the medical and health authorities estimate that 10 per cent of our entire population now has syphilis, millions of the cases being latent, persons—lives, children, professional attendants, working in the community. At the present time, no man has a right to ask a woman to marry him until he has presented to her parent or guardian a health certificate from a reputable physician.

The parent or guardian who fails to exact this duty, in case the prospective bridegroom ventures to evade it, betrays the sacred responsibility imposed by his relationship. (Copyright John F. Dille company.)

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday, Oct. 11, 1901

A number of friends surprised Miss Julius Zuehlke at her home on Locust-st. the previous night in honor of her birthday anniversary.

Members of the Fox River Gun club had chartered the tugboat "The Tug" for the day and were on a week's hunting trip on Lake Pogan. They were H. C. and C. W. Gotschew, Anton Bauleau, Lewis Stark, Albert Meyer and Frank Bailey.

A son was born the previous night to Mr. and Mrs. William Cavert.

President Samuel Plantz of Lawrence college left that morning for Rison, where he was to attend the Methodist conference.

A horse driven by Silas Merrill of Neenah was frightened while driving the tugboat "The Tug" at about 10:30 the previous night and the driver was thrown out of the wagon, and was cut about the hands and face.

A Lindsey of Neenah, whose laundry was recently destroyed by fire, had purchased the laundry machinery of R. Pardee and formerly conducted the Union Laundry on College-ave. Mr. Lindsey was to operate a laundry in the Koletzke building on College-ave.

Harold Shannon returned that day from a few days hunting trip on Lake Pogan.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Charles Purdee, chairman, Mrs. John Carey, Mrs. George Beach and Miss Anna Cooley was in charge of making arrangements for an entertainment to be held the latter part of the month for the purpose of raising money to buy a carpet for the lodge rooms in Odd Fellow hall.

TEN YEARS AGO

Friday, Oct. 6, 1916

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Woodman and Mr. and Mrs. Grothaus had returned from an automobile trip to Gardner, Minn., last evening where they were to have a dinner.

While engaged in roofing the plant of the Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. about 1 o'clock that afternoon, Henry Meyer, W. Second-ave, lost his balance and fell to the ground, a distance of about 20 feet.

The Mother's club of the Franklin kindergarten held its first monthly meeting at the season the previous afternoon at the Franklin school. New officers elected were Mrs. Herman Kotke, president; Mrs. John Moldan, vice president; Mrs. Herman Schultz, secretary and Mrs. Henry Stacker, treasurer.

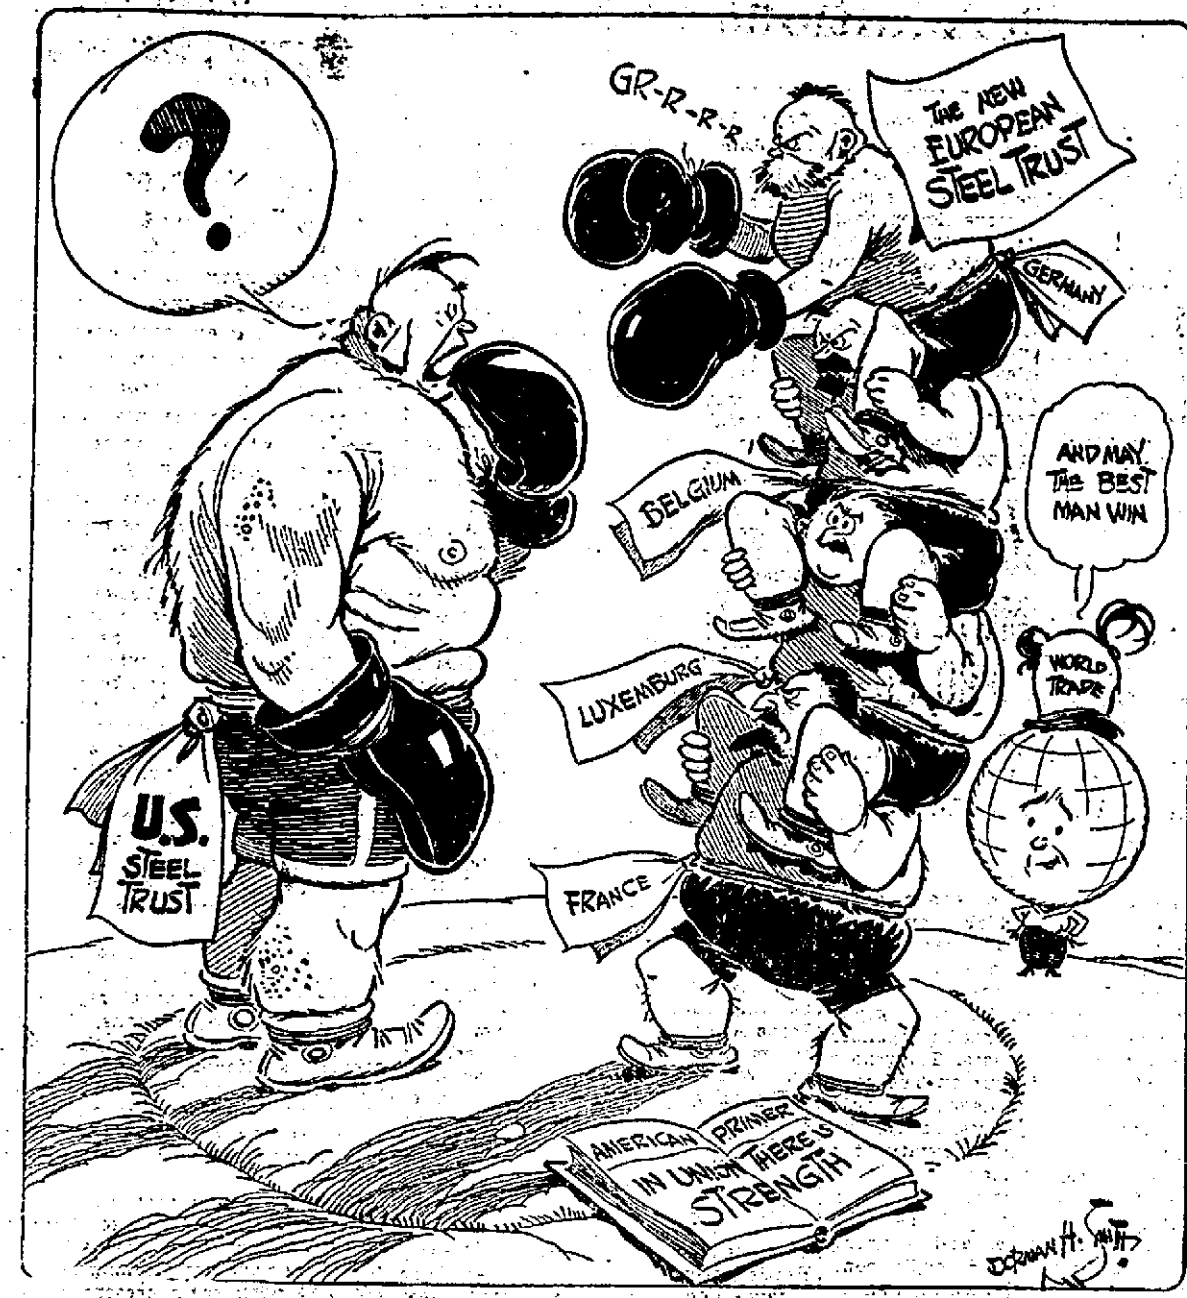

Fifty employees of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. entertained at an aluminum shower the previous evening for Miss Frieda Scherrer, Emily-st., whose marriage to Henry Marling was to take place the following week.

The S. C. club met the previous night at the home of Miss Elsie Rehnfeldt, 611 Spring-st. Those in the club were Stella Meyer, Elsie Rehnfeldt, Edna Hoh, Leona Brill, Vera Tadmacher, Cora Timm, Carrie Klein and Modesta Gerlach.

Chief George McGillan of the Appleton Fire department was guest of honor at a banquet given by the Kimberly-Clark Co. to members of its central safety committee at the Valley Inn at Neenah the previous Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Charles Marston was spending that day in Milwaukee.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

A GENIUS IN SOUTH AFRICA

It is beginning to look as if South Africa is in the process of contributing a real genius to English literature. It is perhaps too early to be positive but the two books that have already come from the pen of Sarah Gertrude Millin seem to promise that English fiction can look with confidence to that country for one of its most gifted practitioners.

About a year ago I devoted an "Adventure" to the book that introduced her in English and American readers, "God's Step-Children," an admirable study of the race problem in South Africa. That was a great novel, in my opinion, without mental reservations as to the exact meaning of the word "great." The second book, "Mary Glenn," also has a right to that adjective, although in a somewhat different way.

"God's Step-Children" was a book with a tremendous theme, and the story was spread over a large canvas. In time it covered over a century and carried the story through four generations, all the characters of the four generations knitted closely together by the theme of race mixture. It was an artistic enterprise extremely hard to handle but it was handled with the sureness of a master.

PROPORTIONS DIFFER

By way of comparing the proportions of the two stories, the former was like the mammoth figures of Confederate generals carved on the side of Stone Mountain, while "Mary Glenn" is like an exquisite figure engraved on a brooch. One is bigger than the other but not necessarily so. Instead of covering a century the story covers a few years and nearly all of it is told in the mind of a woman during a 30-mile automobile drive on the South African veldt.

But it is done with almost perfect art. Imagine a thousand novels and short stories about the social climber and then imagine the one story that does the one thing needed which all the others fail to do and you have in English fiction.

HANDLES STORY EASILY

But Sarah Gertrude Millin handles it with perfect ease. The remarkable thing about the book is its brevity. It has only 223 small pages but it gives a sense of completeness and fullness that some writers cannot attain in three times that length. "God's Step-Children" had the same quality. Covering a century as it did, it gave a complete sense of a perfectly filled picture and did it in about 300 pages. There are few writers who can get the effect Miss Millin gets with such economy of words. How it is done is something that eludes the reader and it is possible the author herself does not know how it is done. But the fact is there.

Once before in our time a genius came out of South Africa when Olive Schreiner published her "Story of an African Farm." Sarah Gertrude Millin has little in common with Olive Schreiner but she already has won the full right to be placed beside her in English fiction.

Q. Is it correct that the Emperor of Japan after he accedes to the throne is not permitted to leave the country?

A. The Japanese Embassy says that although it may be difficult for the Emperor of Japan to leave the country after his accession to the throne, there is no law or regulation restricting him from going abroad. This also applies to the heir apparent.

Q. To settle a dispute will you tell me if a fork is always used the same way?

A. A fork is not always used in the same way. For example, when a piece of meat is conveyed to the mouth, the fork is pressed into the meat with the tines down. On the contrary, if one is eating peas the fork is used with the tines turned upward.

Q. Will you please tell me something of Lake Nipissing? N. Van H.

A. Lake Nipissing is between Lake Huron and the Ottawa River. It is irregular in shape, its greatest length being 55 miles, and the maximum breadth about 28 miles. It contains numerous islands and supports many different kinds of fish.

Q. Is Fire Prevention Week to be observed this year? H. W.

A. Fire Prevention Week is to be observed nationally from October 3 to 9.

Q. When was illuminating gas first used in this country? H. T. R.

A. The first American house in which gas was used for lighting was the home of David Melville, at Newport, R. I., Baltimore, Maryland, was the first city in the United States to use gas for lighting. It was introduced here in 1817.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—Random notes from a Manhattan ramble:

The old fellow who dances in the subway trains. They call him "Lightfoot." They say he came was given him back in 1890, or thereabouts. How strange is sounds now. A gaunt figure in clothes that fit with suspicious loose dress. Hair a mixture of grey and white. But his mustache trimmed with incongruous immaculateness. His age is easily 70. Perhaps even more.

He appears almost every night out of the crowds that elbow their way along Broadway. At Times Square he clatters his clogs, shoes down the subway stairs. Then he waits for a train that has no conductor. There are, strictly ruled, covering hat-passers on subway trains. But they are constantly broken by the wise ones.

A few moments after the train starts he is slipping into the steps of an Irish red or an old-time clog. His wooden soled shoes tap in a rhythmic contrast to the rattle and bang of the train. The passengers crowd about in a circle and watch, more out of curiosity than interest.

He rides for two stations, quickly passes a hat and, amid a burst of applause, slips out. Then he rides back. So it goes through the evening. Back and forth. Over and over again his little program of clog steps.

Once he danced to crowded the steps on the great white way from which he darts into the half-light subway station. Once the houses rocked a wild applause and he took his bows carefully. That was when he won the title of "Lightfoot." For he had badges beneath the ill-fitting coat that tell the story of conquests in the city when the clog was a favorite dance.

There's something about the clog-dancing that slips the feet of the watchers. A wild-haired old man who all but sneers, at the antics of the Charlestoners, drops a dollar bill in the quickly passed lot.

An old "hooper." Once a hooper always a hooper, says Broadway.

Even those who grow prosopically ride at. Watching them jump on the back of autos or as when I was a lad, we stole rides on sleighs. They creep under the turnstiles when no one is looking, hop aboard a subway and ride back and forth.

It's a great game when there's no one to play. They slip the clogs, other to play. They slip the clogs, other to play. They slip the clogs, other to play.

Q. How many times has the city of New York been visited by the plague?

A. Certainly their victims are sharper at 10 than are the wits of others twice their age in the small towns. Literally they live by their wits from the first day they write for into the world of letters.

A newspaper survey says that the daring young bandits are bred from such men. But bandits, after all, are few in contrast with the crowds of street gamblers. What becomes of the rest?

Two Floors of Good Things to Wear

Arctic Owl

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

BOUNDLESS ARCTIC HIS HOME

BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President American Nature Association

No bird has better right to be called a bird of the arctic than the snowy owl. His range is circumpolar and in summer includes only those lands north of the limit of tree growth.

Here on the boundless rolling plains dotted with blue lakes, and soon to be clothed with bright-hued flowers, he and his mate make their home on some hillock raised from the damp ground. In a mound composed of grass and weed stems the six or eight round white eggs are laid.

The weather is still cold and the eggs must not be left uncovered, so the mother bird begins to set when she lays the first egg, and the young are hatched at intervals. Arctic hares, ptarmigan and lemmings—these are the food of the young owls, and in due time, if all goes well, they are able to fly and each learns to catch its own food.

GO ON LONG JOURNEY
It is now August. The flowers have gone to seed and already many of the summer birds are starting on their long journey to their winter homes. But the snowy owl loves too well his home and stays as long as he can. Snow storms come, small ones at first just whitening the barren hills, and soon melting.

Then comes one which does not melt. The ptarmigan no longer can find food and they go southward where the willows grow thickly and furnish a bountiful supply of buds.

FOOD IS SCARCE
The lemmings are under the snow and the great white hares are scarce. So southward the owls go, too, into the great stretches of spruce and poplar woods. Here is a smaller hare, white like the other. He is the prey of those other large owls, the great gray and the great horned.

So our arctic owl picks out some thinly-wooded section, close to some wide stretch of river and gravel bar now alike covered with snow, and there, rendering him of his hooved arctic waste, and here he is happy, passing the time until the sun of spring has once more bared his ancestral nesting ground.

STUDENTS AT HIGH SCHOOL FILL OUT POSITION CARDS

Saturday and Part-time Employment Will Be Furnished Pupils

Application for position cards were filled out by students at the high schools this week for the Appleton branch of the Federal Junior Employment division under the direction of E. C. Chandler, local counselor. Students, who wish to work after school, on Saturdays and during vacations were asked to furnish the desired information listed on the cards. The questions included employment experience and interests, and in what grade he was registered at school. The junior division aims to centralize the employment of boys and girls in one bureau located at the Appleton vocational school. Data concerning the applicant will be furnished employers seeking help, and an endeavor will be made to find the most suitable employment for separate applicants thus hoping to decrease the turnover and increase the efficiency of the workers, it was said. The bureau is entirely voluntary. Mr. Chandler said, neither the employer nor the employee being expected to center their activity in filling out positions in the junior division. After students register at the bureau, reference cards will be sent to the principals and teachers of the schools. "The teachers who have had the opportunity to observe the pupil under varying conditions can be of great assistance to the employment service and to the pupil by this co-operation," Mr. Chandler announced. Teachers will be asked to check whether the pupil would deserve a rating of good, fair or poor on the qualities: scholarship, punctuality, honesty, perseverance, accuracy, honesty, self-reliance, initiative, leadership, physique, habits and industry. Special information concerning the strength or weakness of the pupil in various subjects, the home environment, companions and special talents are asked for. These recommendations for future training for future occupation.

BUTTS AREN'T OUT WHEN THROWN AWAY

Cigarette Smokers Urged to Extinguish "Pills" When Through Smoking

"A butt may be down but it's not always out." Those ten pithy words embody one of the principal lessons of Fire Prevention week, because cigarettes contribute a large share of the nation's huge annual fire loss—a loss which Fire Prevention week was instituted to reduce. Practically every cigarette smoker has at some time been taken to task by an exasperated wife or mother as the result of a burned streak on the edge of a table or desk left by a forgotten "butt." Yet the same smoker will blithely snap a similar butt over the fence, into a corner, or even into a wastebasket, and think no more about it—until the engines come charging down the street. "Clean your chimney and avoid a stack of trouble," is another of the slogans which have come into general use for fire prevention week. A this time of year, when heating plants are started up after a summer of disuse, the women are kept busy answering calls to root fires resulting from dirty or defective flues.

BERLIN HAS MORE HORSES THAN AUTOS

Berlin (P)—While Germany is being enveloped in the modern jazz age, kultur of the past, automobile joy rides are causing the police little concern. The number of privately owned pleasure cars is steadily decreasing. There were 16,400 pleasure cars in greater Berlin in 1924. Now there are only 15,900. There are half that number of taxicabs and more bicycles than both combined. Horses in this city of 4,000,000 inhabitants outnumber automobiles and trucks. High taxation and high cost of upkeep, officials say, is responsible for the diminishing motor car. One fifth of the cars are of foreign make, principally American.

M'KINLEY SCHOOL WILL PROMOTE ALL CLASS PROJECTS

Three Classes Are Organized into Units to Conduct Activities

Organized units have been made of the three classes at McKinley Junior high school this year as means of promoting class activities and projects. H. O. Younger, principal announced. Officers were chosen for each grade and two teachers appointed to sponsor the activities of the classes. The grades will meet for a half hour on Tuesdays when the time will be devoted to either planning class projects, study club meetings, or any other activity the officers and teachers plan.

Some of the projects to be sponsored during this period will be class projects, interclass games and planning assembly programs. Friendly competition among the classes as well as independence in organizing ability is hoped by the teachers and principal to result.

Officers of the ninth grade elected were: Doris Koehnke, president; Lily Refke, vice president; Edward Ver-

BUREAU REGISTERS ALL YOUNG PEOPLE AFTER EMPLOYMENT

Junior Placement Office Sends Announcements to City Employers

A preliminary announcement from the Appleton division of the Junior Placement bureau, connected with the United States employment service of the department of labor, was sent to all employers in the city listed in the directory of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday. E. P. Chandler of the Appleton vocational school, will act as superintendent of guidance and placement, it was stated.

"We expect to register at this office all young people between the ages of 14 and 21 who are looking for permanent employment," the letter stated. "In addition we will have a registration of high school boys and girls who will be available for after school students also will be available for full time employment during the vacation and holiday seasons."

"From our knowledge of the school records, the aptitude and previous record of the applicant, we can furnish the employer with the kind of employee he wants," the bureau announced.

The division will aim to establish a personal acquaintance with all registrants and get personal reports, not general recommendations, from instructors and former employees. The service is offered to employers without cost by the board of vocational education in cooperation with the Junior Division of the United States Employment service, Mr. Chandler said.

A special invitation has been extended by the division to those boys and girls not attending school and who either are not working or are not satisfied with their present work to register at this office. The placement bureau will be located in the vocational school and will be open between the hours of 8 o'clock in the morning and 5 o'clock in the afternoon on school days.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that at said general election the following proposed amendments to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin, which have been approved by two succeeding legislatures and duly published for three months as required by section I of article XII of said constitution, will be submitted to a vote of the electors in manner provided by law and as directed by chapters 270 and 413 Laws of 1925, to-wit:

(Jt. Res. No. 12, S.)

JOINT RESOLUTION No. 16, 1925

To create section 12 of article XIII of the constitution, relating to the recall of elective public officers.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1923, an amendment to the constitution was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, which proposed amendment is as follows:

"Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That a new section be added to article XIII of the constitution to read: (Article XIII Sec. 12. The qualified electors of the state or of any county or of any congressional, judicial or legislative district may petition for the recall of any elective officer after the first year of the term for which he was elected, by filing a petition with the officer with whom the petition for nomination to such office in the primary election is filed, demanding the recall of such officer. Such petition shall be signed by electors equal in number to at least twenty-five per cent of the vote cast for the office of governor at the last preceding election, in the state, county or district from which such officer is to be recalled. The officer with whom such petition is filed shall call a special election to be held not less than forty nor more than forty-five days from filing of such petition. The officer against whom such petition has been filed shall continue to perform the duties of his office until the result of such special election shall have been officially declared. Other candidates for such office may be nominated in the manner as is provided by law in primary elections. The candidate who shall receive the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term. The name of the candidate against whom the recall petition is filed shall go on the ticket unless he resigns within ten days after the filing of the petition. After one such petition and special election, no further recall petition shall be filed against the same officer during the term for which he was elected. This article shall be self-executing and all of its provisions shall be treated as mandatory. Laws may be enacted to facilitate its operation, but no law shall be enacted to hamper, restrict or impair the right of recall."

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the foregoing amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is hereby agreed to by this legislature.

NOTE—This amendment, if approved, will add to the constitution a self-executing provision for the recall of elective public officers by the direct vote of the people of the state or of any county or of any congressional, judicial or legislative district, under the conditions and in the manner therein set forth. It will apply to officers elected by the people of the following classes only: state officers, county officers, congressional officers, judicial officers, and legislative officers, and will enable the people to recall any officer in the classes named, at any time after he has served one year of the term for which he was elected, and to elect another person in his place for the remainder of such term.

To amend section 5 of article V of the constitution, relating to the compensation of the governor.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1923, an amendment to the constitution was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, which proposed amendment is as follows:

"Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That section 5 of article V of the constitution be amended to read: (Article V) Section 5. The governor shall receive, during his continuance in office, an annual compensation of not less than five thousand dollars, to be fixed by law, which shall be in full for all traveling expenses incident to his duties. The compensation prescribed for governor immediately prior to the adoption of this amendment shall continue in force until changed by the legislature in a manner consistent with the other provisions of this constitution."

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring: That the foregoing amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is hereby agreed to by this legislature.

NOTE—Under this amendment, if approved, instead of the governor's salary being fixed by the constitution, the legislature will have power by law to fix it at not less than five thousand dollars, which shall be in full for all traveling and other expenses incident to his duties.

REFERENDUM

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that at said general election there will be submitted to the voters a question relative to amending the Volstead Act as set forth in the Joint Resolution following:

(Jt. Res. 42, S.)

JOINT RESOLUTION No. 47, 1925

Providing for referendum relative to memorializing congress to amend the National Prohibition Act.

WHEREAS, The eighteenth amendment to the constitution was ratified by the legislature of the state of Wisconsin without submission to a vote of the people; and

WHEREAS under the "concurrent" clause of said amendment the legislature of the state of Wisconsin provided for the manufacture and sale of non-intoxicating beer by Chapter 536, Laws of 1919; and

WHEREAS subsequent thereto the congress of the United States passed the National Prohibition Act commonly known as the "Volstead Act" limiting the alcoholic percentage of beverages to one-half of one per cent by volume, and

WHEREAS subsequent thereto the supreme court of the United States ruled that the congressional enactment superseded the state enactment, and

WHEREAS a large portion of the citizens of this state are desirous that said National Prohibition Law be amended so as to permit the lawful manufacture and sale within this state of palatable beer of an alcoholic percentage not in conflict with the provisions of the eighteenth amendment; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, that there be submitted to the voters of the state of Wisconsin at the general elections to be held in this state in November, 1926, the following question, so as to determine if a majority of the people of the state of Wisconsin desire the Volstead Act amended:—

Shall the congress of the United States amend the "Volstead Act" so as to authorize the manufacture and sale of beer, for beverage purposes, of an alcoholic percentage of 2.75% by weight, under government supervision but with the provision that no beverage so purchased shall be drunk on the premises where obtained?

NOTE—This resolution simply provides for the submission to the voters at the coming general election of a question framed to ascertain the opinion of the electors of Wisconsin as to whether the Volstead Act should be amended in the particulars stated in the question. No change will be effected in the constitution or the state laws by the vote upon the question submitted.

Given under my hand and official seal at the court house in the city of Appleton this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1926. JOHN E. HANTSCHER, County Clerk.

WORK IS PANACEA FOR UNHAPPY MARRIAGE, SAYS WOMAN WHO ABANDONED TRIP AND WON HUBBY

BY VIRGINIA SWAIN
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK—Ten years ago, Margaret McCoy lost a trip to the Far East and won Brock Pemberton, the theatrical producer, as a husband. She still thinks she got the best of the bargain.

Marriage in her case was one of those accidents that happen in the midst of well-laid plans, changing in an instant the whole future course of life.

Miss McCoy, originally an Orange, N. J., girl, returned to spend a winter in New York after several years spent in studying vocal music in Berlin and Paris. She intended that spring to take an extended trip to Sumatra, India and other remote lands of the east. But she had not counted on Brock Pemberton. He was then a young dramatic critic on the New York Times, fresh from his home town of Emporia, Kansas, and bent on conquering New York with his pen, as William Allen White had prophesied he could do.

AT FIRST SIGHT?

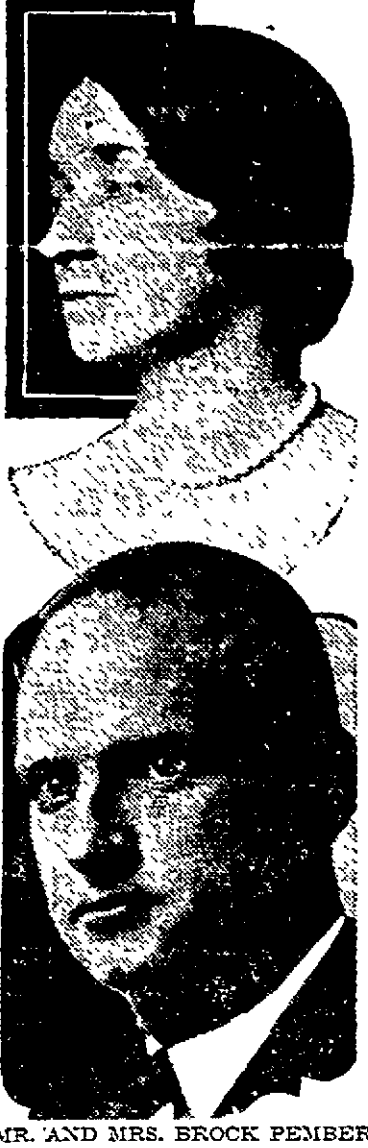

Pemberton met Miss McCoy at a studio party given for her by Grete Torpade, the singer. He admits that he liked her at first sight—especially because she had a pleasant voice and wore a pretty dress.

He has always loved music, and appreciated artistic clothes, almost as much as his wife does.

Margaret McCoy gave up the trip to the Far East, announced her engagement to Brock Pemberton, and was married in December, 1916, all within the space of two months. She says she didn't even regret the loss of the trip to Asia.

Ever since their marriage, the Pembertons have lived in New York, when they were not traveling abroad. The success of Brock Pemberton began when he produced "Enter, Madame," a play which swept Broadway on its feet and then went through the country with equal triumph.

Mrs. Pemberton found her love of clothes useful in her husband's business. Several years ago she became official supervisor of costumes for all his plays. She not only visualizes the necessary outfits for each actor and actress, but shops for the gowns and

MR. AND MRS. BROCK PEMBERTON

Home and Club Workers

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A group of women discussed another woman whose various activities in club and social work had aroused their curiosity and wonder.

"She cannot possibly do it," said one, "without neglecting her family. You can't tell me that any woman with a house the size of hers and two active children and husband can have time for committee meetings and club work and social affairs every day in the week. Something has to go."

"Her children always appear to be well dressed and they certainly look healthy," said another one of the group. "Her husband doesn't look neglected, either."

"I'll concede the point," admitted the first. "But I still maintain that something has to be neglected. It probably is her pantry shelves."

"A third woman now spoke up. 'Ladies,' she said, 'I've been in Mrs. B's kitchen more than once and it would give you a no reason to take exception to her housekeeping. But I shall tell you what she has in her kitchen that might be a good thing for the rest of us to emulate. They are

Her Own Way. A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

"Where is this paragon?" asked Jerry impatiently as we stood beside the little chummy reader that he had driven up to the curb.

"Don't be nasty, Jerry. Joan isn't a paragon, whatever that means. She is just a girl like myself, and I'm not sure that I'm not doing the wrong thing in introducing her to you. I've a hunch you are going to fall in love with her."

"Don't be silly," said Jerry in a hurt voice. "Where will we pick up Miss Smith?"

"At the Good Samaritan Hospital. She went over there with the wife of Barry Cornwall, who was found dead in that rambling place this morning."

"So that is the reason you two girls went over to The Circle, is it? Jerry Smith intimated that you had been coming there for weeks. Did he speak the truth?"

"I've never been there before in my life, Jerry." While I, of course, resented his question, I told him that Smith had died and I had never been to the place before this morning. I didn't think it necessary to tell him that Joan had been going there for some months.

"We went to find out where Lela Cornwall lived. Joan wanted to help her, she said," I explained.

"That's very kind of Miss Meredith. Probably that dear girl has not a friend on earth. But, Judy, you should have invited that I or some man friend of Miss Meredith should have gone with you. We would have probably busted Smith's head for him."

"And costen us into a mess, Jerry? It was best that we went alone."

"For some reason, Judy, both you girls have made an enemy of Smith. I'll advise you to keep out of his reach or a while."

On the way to the hospital I told Jerry a little about the trouble that Lela Cornwall had in the imprudent action he had taken. He looked much concerned and said:

"Is the reason why Jerry Smith and you went to get into more trouble, because I have a hunch you hate, the shoes and hose and minor accessories of each wardrobe.

PRaised BY CRITICS

Her unusual creations for Katherine Cornell in the glamorous role of Inez March, in "The Green Hat," were given credit by many critics for contributing much to the play's effectiveness.

"It isn't often that a wife has such a perfect chance to follow her profession in her own husband's business," she says. "We've always worked so closely together and enjoyed each other's hobbies so fully that we had no energy left for quarrels."

"Work is the panacea for unhappy marriage, in my opinion. For women who have children, there is work enough at home."

"But the childless woman needs a vocation of her own to keep her out of mischief."

"We'll eat the chicken first, my dear," I said a bit mischievously. "Sufficient unto the hour is the evil thereof."

"Jerry, I am sorry," I added hastily as I glimpsed his greatly troubled face.

He didn't say a word, however, until he drew up to the hospital steps, where he helped me out with great formality. I knew he was still hurt. Joan came down into the hallway very tired. She told me that Lela was resting quite comfortably.

"Let's go and have something to eat," she said. "I have just remembered that I haven't had anything to eat today."

I told her of the little farm house among the syringa bushes where we had been invited to dine.

Jerry bowed stiffly as I introduced him to Joan, and helped us into the car. The drive out to the farmhouse was filled with small talk, although I could feel that Jerry, underneath his manner, was weighing our every word with quiet intensity.

Just as we drew up to the gate, Joan turned to me:

"Only a few days now and we'll be away from all this," she said. "How restful the crossing to Europe will seem."

I smiled at her.

Jerry said nothing, but he looked at, though, and received his death blow as he helped us out of the car with great formality.

He made some excuse about parking the roadster and Joan and I walked up the syringa lined path to the house.

I will never forget that evening as long as I shall live. The soft purplish twilight in which we had started from the city had deepened into darkness. The heavens above were studded with twinkling stars that seemed to have some communication with the tiny glittering earth's stars, as one might have called the fiery, which fitted in and out among the jerry foliage, giving one the impression that they had just dropped from among their fellows in the sky.

Turning my head a little, I saw the moon's thin crescent just over my right shoulder and close down by its lower point a brilliant star seemed to punctuate with a period the sentimental story I had lived the last few months. I took it for a good omen.

In silence Joan and I went up the walk. Jerry still lagged behind. Joan's hand stole into mine. I knew that she too was feeling that blessed peace which was filling my heart.

As though to emphasize the prosaic life of everyday we came upon the porch where the table with its white table cloth was set in homely fashion and lighted by four candles in heavy glass candlesticks.

There were pats of new made butter, and dishes of scented honey, crisp pickles, and colorful jams dotted about the table. These things I had not seen since I had left my father's house.

There was an odor of broiled chicken which mingled pleasantly with the scent of the syringas, told me I was hungry. I remembered I had eaten nothing since my coffee in the morning.

None of us spoke as we three were seated at the table. Jerry's face was inscrutable. I glanced at it furtively once or twice. He seemed to have shut me out of his mind entirely. It was as though I were not there.

"Why are you not working today? Did Miss Meredith get you off with her father?"

"Miss Meredith had nothing to do with it. Mr. Robinson does not know that I am acquainted with his stepdaughter. I discharged myself."

"This morning when I left you so abruptly I saw Mr. Robinson coming down the street and I wanted to evade a scene, and so I ran away."

"Now you are sensible, Judy. Now you will come and marry me. Would you mind after we have eaten that little dinner I have described to you if I drove along a little further to a tiny white house next to a little white steepled church and we were married?"

"Why, of course, I would mind, Jerry."

"You don't mean that do you, Judy?"

"Mean what? A person can mind something without being 'agin' it, you know."

I thought Jerry was going to hurt me right on the spot, and I stepped up onto the running board of the car so that he came about me would look as though he were hugging me.

"Aren't you going to marry me?" he asked. "It is a curious little church."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST — Sliced peaches, cereal, thin cream, broiled ham, creamed potatoes, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Cream of tomato soup, open egg and lettuce sandwiches, grape juice, sponge pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Veal stew with dumplings, baked macaroni and tomatoes, cabbage and beet salad, mold of pearls with whipped cream, bean relish, milk, coffee.

The veal stew is well flavored and made rich in mineral salts by the onions and carrots in it. Macaroni is served in place of potatoes with tomatoes making the dish of great value toward a balanced diet. The salad adds the necessary vitamins, and the dessert furnishes the sugar for quick energy and adds fat to a menu somewhat lacking in this nutrient.

GRAPE JUICE SPONGE PUDDING One cup grape juice, juice 1 lemon, 3-4 cup sugar, few grains salt, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, whites 2 eggs.

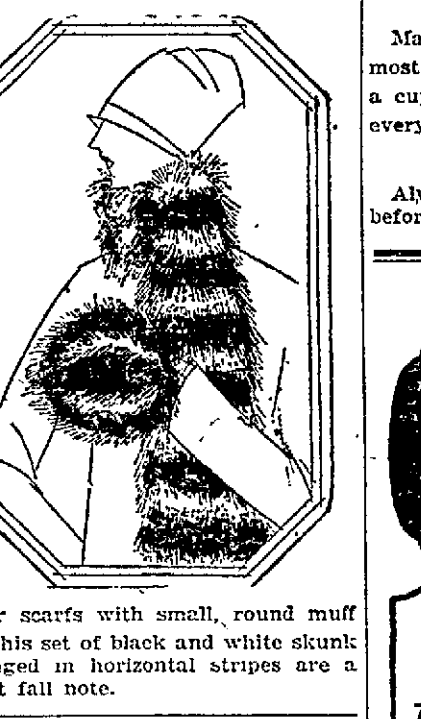

Soften gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve over hot water. Bring grape juice and sugar to the boiling point, stirring to dissolve sugar. Remove from heat and add lemon juice and dissolved gelatine. Stir well and let mixtures stand until beginning to thicken. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry with salt. Fold into jelly mixture and beat until stiff enough to hold its shape. Turn into a mold and chill. Serve with boiled custard made with yolks of eggs. (Copyright, 1926, NEA Service, Inc.)

GARAGE SHOULD BE PAINTED SAME AS HOUSE

The garage, when not built into the house, should be treated as an important adjunct. Its exterior color scheme should be the same as that of the house. It should be painted at frequent intervals, in order to keep it weather-proof and thus afford the owner's car—and his pocketbook—the best possible protection.

The interior of the garage may be painted any pleasing color. Perhaps the owner may decide to have it match the color of his car. The well painted interior increases attractiveness and improves lighting. A special cement paint may be needed here.

If there is a chauffeur's room upstairs, it also should be made inviting and sanitary with paint in cheerful colors.

Cuticura Heals Eczema On Child's Head and Body

"Our little girl had a breaking out of eczema when she was three months old. It started with a rash on her head and spread to her body. The irritation caused her to scratch, and scratching caused eruptions which later scaled over. Her hair was thin and lifeless, and her clothing aggravated the breaking out, causing her to cry. She was very fretful and could not sleep. The trouble lasted until she was four years old."

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using it I purchased more, which healed her." (Signed) Mrs. Cora Crider, Rt. 1, Brink Haven, Ohio.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, with tincture of Cuticura Ointment now and then, keeps the skin fresh, smooth and clear. Cuticura Talcum also is ideal for the skin.

Soap 25c, Ointment 25c and 50c, Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample with free. Address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. 510, Boston.

COUNTIES AGREE TO IMPROVE ROAD RUNNING ON LINE

Long Battle Appears Settled Following Meeting of Commissioners

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—A battle which has been waged for a long period of time came to a peaceful end Wednesday afternoon when at a joint meeting of Waupaca and Outagamie county commissioners meeting at the city hall, it was decided to improve the ten mile stretch of road which divides the two counties. When completed New London and the community will be provided with a short cut to Oshkosh. The meeting was largely attended by interested farmers of Dale and the country lying adjacent to the proposed trunk highway and the matter received serious discussion from all angles. The matter will come up for next meeting of the several county boards. The county line road fight will no doubt be decided definitely in 1927 when it is expected that the work of improving the long stretch will begin. It is proposed to carry the improvement straight through to the Winnebago-co line and in case the matter receives favorable support from this county the road will be continued south until it connects with the through road to Oshkosh, thus cutting off the long route heretofore travelled.

DRUGGIST LIABLE IF HE SELLS RUM ON FORGED ORDER

Up to Vendor to Determine if Prescription Is Valid, Attorney Rules

Madison.—(P)—Druggists who sell intoxicating liquors on forged prescriptions are guilty of violating the prohibition laws although they may be ignorant of the forgeries, Assistant Attorney General J. E. Messerschmidt said here today.

The opinion of the assistant attorney general was given in answer to a query by Louis C. Gunderson, prohibition commissioner of Wisconsin.

The words "knowingly" or "willfully" or other similar words, Mr. Messerschmidt pointed out are omitted from the prohibition statute, and in the case of the pharmacist selling liquor on a forged prescription, the offense consists of sale without a physician's prescription.

In other words, intent is not a necessary element in the crime under consideration, he said. "The statute imposes a duty upon the pharmacist when he enters into that business the law casts upon him the duty to inform himself as to whether the conditions prescribed in the statute present."

"He can only sell upon a prescription and that of course must be a legal prescription, one that was actually made by some physician who is authorized to give it."

The assistant attorney general cited the case of the state vs. Hartfield in which the court held that sale of intoxicating liquor to a minor is of offense, though the vendor does not know that the purchaser was a minor.

"The court in this case," he said, "said that the legislature intended to inflict the penalty, irrespective of the knowledge or motives of the person who has violated its provisions."

He quoted the court as saying: "In fact, if this were not so, it is plain that the statute might be violated times without number, with no possibility of convicting offenders, and so it would become a dead letter on the statute book, and the evil aimed at by the legislature remain almost wholly untouched."

"I have been unable," the assistant attorney general said, "to find any decision direct in joint involving the sale of intoxicating liquors by pharmacists on a forged prescription, but the principle announced in the Hartfield case, and since adhered to by our court in Welch vs. State, 145 Wis. 85, if applied here, will make the pharmacist liable under the facts stated by you. Any other construction would make it possible to violate this law with impunity and it would be well nigh impossible to enforce its provisions."

MEXICAN TRAFFIC COPS "TOO LOOSE ON TRIGGER"

Mexico City.—(P)—Local newspapers complain that Mexico City traffic cops are too loose on the trigger. They urge the police to quit shooting at violators of traffic laws.

The objection is that the public is doubly imperiled. The pedestrian is not only apt to be run down by automobiles, but he also hazards being killed by a police bullet intended for a motorist.

The newspapers say several persons have been killed in recent weeks by shots directed by police at traffic law violators.

MINISTER FINDS EDITOR JOB HARD

Presbyterian Preacher Finds No Man Can Fill Other Man's Job as Well as Own

Yakima, Wash.—(P)—No one can run the other fellow's job as well as his own, though he may, until he has tried it, he fully convinced that he is able to do so, said Rev. D. W. Ferry here after a week as editor pro-tem of the Yakima Daily Republic.

The Presbyterian minister took the position after a series of arguments with the editor, Col. W. W. Robertson, about the Republic's editorial policy, especially in regard to the prohibition law and its enforcement.

"Lots of persons think they could run newspapers and write editorials without the least difficulty," said Mr. Ferry. "I wish they could all try it once. It would develop a fine spirit of tolerance, though after the experience they might not survive long enough to exemplify it. If I have to retire from the ministry I certainly am not going to try to find any rest in the editorial chair. It isn't there."

Ferry said that he had learned that preaching every Sunday is nothing like the strain of filling editorial columns day by day. "The demands of newspaper space and time are so relentless that I could not stand up under them long."

STAGE AND SCREEN

HIGHLY DRAMATIC FEATURE

An unusually good film drama, "Morganson's Finish," a Tiffany production was shown for the first time here at the New Bijou theatre yesterday. The story is taken from the same name by Jack London and is in that master writer's best vein. It is a red-blooded epic of the eternal struggle of man to wrest from the earth the hidden gold that has been a lure to the adventurous since the world began.

The direction is excellent and the locale of the Alaskan scenes picturesque to a degree.

As thrilling a fight as ever seen upon a screen is one of the great moments in this enthralling film drama. There is no doubt in the mind of the reviewer that Johnnie Walker and Mahlon Hamilton who take the leading parts in this particular episode breathed a sigh of relief when that scene was over. One could believe that they actually heard the maddened men.

Anna Stewart, as fragile and beautiful as ever as the plot character of the story was both charming in the first part of the picture and dramatic in the Alaskan sequences. The work of the other players, Victor Potel, Crawford Kent and Rose Tapley, was excellent.

RENEE ADOREE AS AN IRISH
HEROINE
After three French roles in a row,

Renee Adoree, the winsome "Mellande" of "The Big Parade," has changed her nationality to Irish. In the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Blarney," from the Saturday Evening Post story by Donn Byrne, she plays "Peggy Nolan," the colleen heroine who loves and finally wins "James Carahane," the Irish prize ring champion played by Ralph Graves.

Her performance in her present picture, coming to the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday, will be studied with keen interest by her admirers.

In addition to Miss Adoree and Graves the cast includes Malcolm-Wate, Paulette Duval and Margaret Seddon.

GEORGE WHITE'S "SCANDALS"
It is doubtful if ever, the coming of an attraction to this city has created more keen interest than the forthcoming engagement of the Sixth Annual Edition of George White's "Scandals," which will make its appearance here on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 13th, matinee and night at Fischer's Appleton Theatre.

Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that the famous New York and Chicago production will be seen here intact. The company number more than 100, and in its roster the names of some of America's most prominent players in the lighter form of entertainment among whom may be mentioned: Freddie Lashner, Ace Brown, Kimm and Ross, Ted and Sister, Walter Diggs, and others.

Also appearing are: Lela Smith, Stanier Cable, Leora Dietrick, Jenne Land, The Yarell Sisters, Rosella McQueen and the Royal Philippine Show Orchestra including the celebrated comedienne Jeanne

As thrilling a fight as ever seen upon a screen is one of the great moments in this enthralling film drama. There is no doubt in the mind of the reviewer that Johnnie Walker and Mahlon Hamilton who take the leading parts in this particular episode breathed a sigh of relief when that scene was over. One could believe that they actually heard the maddened men.

Anna Stewart, as fragile and beautiful as ever as the plot character of the story was both charming in the first part of the picture and dramatic in the Alaskan sequences. The work of the other players, Victor Potel, Crawford Kent and Rose Tapley, was excellent.

RENEE ADOREE AS AN IRISH
HEROINE
After three French roles in a row,

Renee Adoree, the winsome "Mellande" of "The Big Parade," has changed her nationality to Irish. In the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Blarney," from the Saturday Evening Post story by Donn Byrne, she plays "Peggy Nolan," the colleen heroine who loves and finally wins "James Carahane," the Irish prize ring champion played by Ralph Graves.

Her performance in her present picture, coming to the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday, will be studied with keen interest by her admirers.

GEORGE WHITE'S "SCANDALS"
It is doubtful if ever, the coming of an attraction to this city has created more keen interest than the forthcoming engagement of the Sixth Annual Edition of George White's "Scandals," which will make its appearance here on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 13th, matinee and night at Fischer's Appleton Theatre.

Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that the famous New York and Chicago production will be seen here intact. The company number more than 100, and in its roster the names of some of America's most prominent players in the lighter form of entertainment among whom may be mentioned: Freddie Lashner, Ace Brown, Kimm and Ross, Ted and Sister, Walter Diggs, and others.

Also appearing are: Lela Smith, Stanier Cable, Leora Dietrick, Jenne Land, The Yarell Sisters, Rosella McQueen and the Royal Philippine Show Orchestra including the celebrated comedienne Jeanne

COLLEGE FAILURE DUE TO HABIT, NOT MENTAL ABILITY

Rean Mullenix Addresses Teachers at Michigan Con- vention

Ann Arbor, Mich., (AP)—Lack of mental ability is not the great cause of failure of students in college, but it is the habit of failure formed before they enter college, Dr. R. C. Mullenix, dean of freshmen at Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., told teachers at the Northern Wisconsin association of teachers at their annual convention here Friday.

"Nothing succeeds like success," he said. "Nothing fails like failure."

When a student comes out of high school with the habit of slipshod work, with the habit of bluffing, with the habit of superciliousness, with the habit of cribbing, he enters college with a great handicap.

"Much of failure of students in college is due to the fact that many young folk enter colleges with a wrong conception of the meaning and purpose of education, and false notions as to the aims and methods of college," the Lawrence dean mentioned.

"The high schools can do most to promote the success of their graduates in college or university," he said, "by training them in systematic habits of work and by developing in them the habit of effective study."

"The high schools should make the most of their material, by imparting to them sound ideas as to the meaning and value of higher education; by acquainting them with the real aims and methods of the college; by revealing to them their own capacities and limitations; by inspiring them to high ambitions and worthy purposes; by commensurate with their potentialities; and by stimulating them to earnest effort."

"The high school, then, can fulfill its role as a fitting school for college and university, not so much by a direct emphasis upon specific subjects, as by training, by motivation, by stimulation, by inspiration."

HUNTING AND TRAP LICENSES DIFFER

Game Wardens Won't Have Any Trouble in Distinguishing One from Other

Game wardens this year will have no difficulty in distinguishing at a glance the hunting license from the trapping license. The licenses of 1926 have been slightly changed over those of previous years.

Printed in the left hand corner of the hunting license is the picture of a double barreled shot gun. On the trapping license is the reproduction of a muskrat trap. Both are large enough to be easily distinguished at a distance.

It is easy enough for a trapper, operating without a trapping license but carrying with him a hunting permit, to be asked for his license and to flash it to the warden and nonchalantly slip it back again into his pocket. There is not enough difference between the two to tell, ordinarily. The picture of the gun and the trap, however, make it possible to differentiate between the permits without causing a lot of argument between the officer and the sportsman.

On the licenses this year the name of the county is also printed in when the forms are received. The licenses are made up in one "batch" by the state printers and the place for the name of the county left blank. In the issuing of permits to hunt, however, every minute counts, for sometimes dozens are lined up at the counter, waiting for service. Formerly it was necessary to fill in the name of the county with ink. This year every bit of work possible is done by the printers and the licenses have been made up separately for each county.

NEXT SEWAGE MEETING TO BE CALLED SOON

The next meeting to study the advisability of constructing a large sewage disposal plant for use of all municipalities between Neenah and Kaukauna, proposed by the village board of Appleton, will be held last August, will be called the latter part of October, according to Mayor Albert C. Rule. The exact date will not be announced for at least another week, pending word from the president of the state board of health. The attitude of the health board toward the proposal is sought before any further consideration is given the matter, Mayor Rule indicated.

Game Laws for 1926-27

Now that the hunting season is here you will want to know all about game laws. The lure of the woods is compelling, but the game warden must be reckoned with. Prepare yourself for this reckoning by knowing the law.

"THANK YOU" OF PHONE GIRLS IS HELD SUCCESSFUL

Because of the success of the "Thank You" rule, adopted by the local exchange of the Wisconsin Telephone company about a month ago, a similar rule is to be put into force in all exchanges in the state, it was announced by officials of the local office this week. The new rule has decreased the number of errors because more care is taken by the operators to get the number and greater care is taken by the patron in giving the number.

The operator does not repeat the number given by a patron unless she has failed to get any part of it. She must say "Thank You" instead of repeating it. A similar rule was adopted at Oshkosh and Fond du Lac at the same time the new plan went into effect here and the same success was noted there.

BACHMAN WILL ATTEND NEXT REGENT MEETING

Contract for the new Memorial Union building to be erected for the University of Wisconsin will be awarded by the board of regents at its next regular meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 13, according to Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer and member of the board. Mr. Bachman will attend the meeting. The building will cost approximately $750,000, $650,000 of which is raised. It is the intention of the board to have the remainder subscribed before Wednesday.

APPLETON YOUTH NAMED AS ENGINE INSPECTOR

H. W. Henning, son of William Henning, N. Appleton-st., a student at the Milwaukee school of engineering, was one of a group of ten students selected to test three giant Diesel engines to be used by the government in the Panama Canal zone, according to word received in Appleton.

Students at the school assisted government engineers in the official tests at the request of the Panama Canal department of the United States government. The three 4,000 horsepower engines are the largest of the Diesel type ever built in this country. It is said they will be installed at Miraflores to act as a standby to the hydro-electric station at Gatun.

In order to conduct the test in Milwaukee, a carload of special crude oil from the Mexican oil fields was sent to insure that the tests be made under actual working conditions.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE FAITH AND CHERRY LANE, sisters, are utterly different. Faith, tall, womanly, not pretty but charming, handsome, stays at home and keeps a house for the family of six, because of her mother's ill health, while Cherry, tiny, beautiful, words as a stenographer and is the petted darling of her mother.

Cherry is unscrupulous in her methods with men, whom she wins for the pure love of conquest, and Faith is "continually" disdained upon herself and the whole family. When her father, a carpenter, asks BOB HATHAWAY to dinner, hoping to win his friendship so that Hathaway will give him a small job of contracting to do, both Faith and Cherry are instantly attracted to him, but he has eyes for no one but Cherry, who whisks him away to a movie show, after stealing all the credit for the delicious dinner from the hard working Faith.

Faith, stung by her sister's tactics, has tried to flirt with Bob, but despises herself for her cheap efforts, and refuses to accompany them. While Cherry is out with Faith away, a call comes for her from CHRIS WILEY, a man of unsavory reputation, to whom JIM LANE has forbidden the house. Faith tells Cherry on her return and later hears Cherry stealing out into the night to keep a rendezvous with WileY.

WILEY: CHRIS STAYS! NOW: GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER V

When forty-five long minutes had been ticked off by the loud-ticking alarm clock beside her, Faith rose, thrusting her feet into her old blue felt bedroom slippers, flung a cotton robe kimono over her nightgown, and was about to tip toe out of her room in search of Cherry.

It was after one o'clock. Her sister would be furiously angry with her for interlocking, but after all she owed her loyalty to her father, and he had good reason for ordering Chris WileY off the premises.

She was just opening her door when a shrill scream rang out, startlingly loud in the deep silence of the night. Faith's heart thumped, and she rushed to the door, only to find Cherry lying face down on the floor, her hands clasped in prayer.

"Where's Cherry? Home yet?" he lowered his voice, so as not to disturb his wife, who was sleeping heavily under the influence of a bromide. Before Faith could reply, the scream came again, loud and sharp, but ending abruptly, as if the screamer's mouth had been suddenly muffled.

Mr. Lane brushed Faith aside, ran into the living room. Faith heard him stumble against the old wicker rocking chair, which he cursed as he flung it aside. Almost paralyzed with terror, she sat at last, forced her unsteady legs to carry her. Oh, Cherry, little Cherry! She was sobbing as she ran idly, following Mr. Lane to the porch.

"Put that girl down, or I'll shoot!" she heard her father's usually mild voice roar out.

Faith seized his right arm, struggled with him desperately, so that the pistol pointed harmlessly toward the floor of the porch. But she did not take her eyes from the drama that was unfolding before her amazed eyes.

In the faint light from the distant street lamp, the man who had been running toward a car parked at the curb, a struggling, kicking girl in his arms, dropped his burden suddenly, so that the little figure sprawled like a broken doll on the gravelled path. Still exerting all her strength to keep her father from taking a shot at the fleeing figure, Faith saw the man leap into his car, start the engine with incredible swiftness, and roll away.

Jim Lane dropped the pistol to the floor, looked at Faith with wild, haggard eyes, in which murderous anger was still glittering, then ran, on his bare feet, to where Cherry was still prone in the gravel, sobbing like a child, with pitiful, choking gasps.

"What was that Hathaway rascal doing to you honey?" He lifted the girl in his arms. "I'll kill him for this! I'd have taken a shot at him when he was running away, but Faith wouldn't let go of my arm. Tell Daddy, honey."

The girl, crying hysterically, wound her arms around her father's neck, but did not correct his mistake.

"It wasn't Mr. Hathaway, Dad," Faith cut in sharply. "Cherry—" "I don't know who it was," Cherry shuddered. "It was so hot I couldn't sleep, and I was lying in the deck chair on the porch—oh, Daddy! Hold me tight! I'm scared, I'm scared!"

"You don't know who it was?" Jim Lane demanded incredulously. "Faith—what do you know about this?" He turned on his older daughter.

"I tell you I don't know who it was," Cherry protested, quickly, her breath coming in sharp gasps. "I was just lying there, half asleep, when suddenly a man picked me up in his arms! I screamed—" "I heard you!" Jim Lane cut in. "You didn't recognize him?"

"It was someone I never saw before in my life," the girl sobbed, but she reached out a hand and seized Faith's and pressed it warningly.

"I tried to talk to ask him who he was, but I was just—just paralyzed. He said he had been watching me for a long time, that he was in love with me, that he was going to take me away with him. I pleaded with him, but it wasn't any use. Then he stopped talking, just flung me across his shoulder and began to run down the walk with me. Oh, Daddy, darling, I'm so glad you came—in time."

"Faith, go phone the police!" Jim Lane lifted the weeping girl into his arms and started toward the house. "I never heard of such an outrage in my life. Phone for the police, I say, he commanded sharply, as Faith stood hesitating beside him.

"Oh, Daddy, don't get the police!" Cherry begged, shuddering. "You scared him so badly he'll never come back! And I'd be disgraced!" The newspapers! Oh, Daddy, I couldn't stand it—the disgrace! the police asking me questions—please, Daddy, darling!" She began to sob more wildly than ever, and her little red mouth nuzzled her father's haggard cheeks with frantic, pleading kisses.

"I don't think it would be wise, Dad," Faith managed to say at last. "I think we had better let the matter drop. It was dark, and Cherry probably couldn't give a very accurate description of him. It would just stir up a mare's nest of notoriety and trouble."

When, fifteen minutes later, Jim Lane reluctantly went back to bed, after locking the front and back doors securely, testing the locks on all the screens and commanding Faith to stay with her sister for the rest of the night for protection, Cherry flung her arms about Faith's neck and kissed her with frantic gratitude.

"You're a darling to me, Faith, and I'm such a little beast to you. Forgive me for what I said about your being crazy about Bob Hathaway, won't you honey? I don't know what gets into me."

But Faith for once was unbending.

ADVOCATES BRAND NEW SUPERVISION FOR HIGH SCHOOLS

State Supervisor Says Efficiency of System Is Being Questioned

Madison (AP)—Pointing out that the efficiency of high school teaching is being seriously questioned, J. T. Giles, state high school supervisor, has advocated a new program of supervision for Wisconsin high schools. "Competent critics," he said, "have suggested that there is much waste, and it is easy for the expert observer to point out the sources of this waste. Various remedies have been suggested and new tools have recently come into our hands for testing the efficacy of these remedies. The time seems ripe for a united and intelligent forward movement to improve instruction in Wisconsin Secondary school including grades 7 to 12."

The agencies through which the new program could be carried out, Mr. Giles said, include the state department of public instruction, the state university, state teacher's college, city and county superintendents, high school principals, heads of departments and high school teachers.

"The principal must be held responsible," he said, "for leadership in the supervision of instruction, in the local high school. His work consists of visiting classes, individual conferences with teachers, group meetings, assisting in formulating and giving tests, issuing bulletins of information to teachers, etc."

"The teachers should first of all have a strong motive. She should have an earnest desire to improve her teaching. She must not be impressed with the idea that her professional training or her experience as a teacher, no matter how extensive either, may be, has brought her to a level of efficiency approaching 100 per cent. It is probable that any teacher in Wisconsin could double her (or his) present teaching efficiency perhaps in a year's time."

There is no lack of machinery or organization for carrying out a state program of supervision. The need is for an acceptable plan of action."

Leadership and cooperation can be exercised by the state institutions and state officials. The auxiliary agencies

66 BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED IN SEPTEMBER

Building permits authorizing construction of ten residences estimated to cost approximately $42,700 were issued last month by Walter Zschachner, building inspector. Construction of 20 garages, five residences and garages and 31 miscellaneous projects at an estimated cost of $3,300, $19,500 and $27,310, respectively, also was authorized. A total of 76 building permits were issued in September. The building inspector made 79 final inspections, and the board of appeals held one meeting.

START SUGAR BEET HARVEST NEXT WEEK

Expect Trouble in Digging Crop Because of Extremely Muddy Fields

Farmers in Outagamie co will start harvesting the sugar beet crop next week, according to rural carriers at the Appleton postoffice. Great trouble probably will be experienced in the harvest, it is expected, because of muddy fields.

Potato crops are being harvested by hand, because of the wet condition of the land. It is impossible to use a plow or a digger. One farmer attempted to use a digger to harvest his potatoes and the digger was broken because of the weight of the water-soaked ground. The potatoes remain inside huge lumps of wet earth and they must be removed by hand. Most farmers have started digging by hand. It is thought that the same trouble will be experienced in digging the sugar beets. The crop is fine, however, and will be shipped from the railroad siding at the county asylum.

SHORTAGE OF CINDERS HALTS STREET REPAIR

A shortage of cinders is causing delay in repair work on streets throughout the city, according to Robert Hackworthy, street commissioner. The continuance of N. Drew-st from E. Brewster-st to Circle-st, and the extension of N. Erb-st from W. Brewster-st to Parkway-blvd is being held up and minor repairs in several other parts of the city are being delayed.

The reason for the shortage, according to Mr. Hackworthy, is that most mills do not use much soft coal during the summer months. The soft coal that do use coal pulverize it and burn the powder, while others mix rubbish and shavings with the coal. Cinders from the latter cannot be used.

Use of gravel is more expensive, but the question of buying gravel for continuing the work will probably be taken up at the next council meeting.

FRANKLY Wadhams 370 gasoline asks you to pay a trifling fraction more at the pump than you need pay for common down-graded gas. BUT those few pennies are not true extra cost—not even a long-time investment.

Right away—beginning at the first start and the first every extra cent yields you the instant PERCEPTIBLE returns of less drag on your starting battery—shorter warm-up—readier, sturdier, speedier power—quicker pick-up—better mileage. Every SURFACE advantage of high grade gas with its extra cost repaid before the tankful is exhausted!

But those immediate penny profits are the least important. The big dollar dividends come piling in when you realize that under the surface is safeguarding you from costly motor repairs and frequent carbon cleaning—no harsh, non-burning kerosene dripping down into your crankcase to threaten your bearings because of thinned oil. No scratchy grit of free carbon to abrade the cylinder walls and derange valves and compression. No battering of the power line by ragged, stuttery power-delivery.

Surely it's a Ponzi percentage in your favor when this better gas costs no more by the day and mile and pays dollar upon dollar of rich return in better motor condition.

BLUES READY FOR OSHKOSH NORMAL CLASH SATURDAY

Catlin Drills Squad Hard To Guard Against Surprise As Normal Pulled Last Year

Barrell, Nason, Bloomer Probable Starters in Blue Backfield

SATURDAY GAMES OSHKOSH NORMAL AT LAWRENCE

Prepared for a surprise of any name, Coach Mark S. Catlin's Blue and White squad, which was pulled last year over a Savastus squad which was supposedly the best in the state, is taking few chances for the Blue and White game.

The starting lineup probably will be the same as that which encountered the Oshkosh Normal at Lawrence last year. The Blue and White squad is taking few chances for the Blue and White game.

ALEXANDER STANDS BETWEEN YANKEES AND SERIES BANNER

Vet Star Will Be Opposed by Shocker or Shawkey; Douthit Still Out

St. Louis, Mo.—(AP)—Chances of the St. Louis Cardinals for continued participation in 1926 world's series Friday rested on the broad but seasoned shoulders of the 39-year old Grover Cleveland Alexander. Only the birds pitcher stands between the Red Birds and the losers shares of the gold at the end of the series rainbow.

As both teams moved out of the west Friday the series stood 3 games to 2 in favor of the New York Yankees with the American League entry needing but a single game to insure its election as world baseball champions.

All of Friday was needed for traveling to get the contenders back to the Yankee Stadium for the sixth game Saturday. If the Cardinals win Saturday a seventh game will be necessary in New York Sunday.

Outcome of the fifth game was a shock to St. Louis supporters who established a new city record with $9,552 paid admissions. The Yankees had to come from behind to win 3 to 2 in ten innings. A battle of left handers, Pennock and Sherdel was a repetition of southpaws starting the classic in New York last Saturday.

"Alexander" is a magic word in the St. Louis camp and with a wonderful pitched game behind him in the series, Rogers Hornsby and his men believe the old master of the team will be at his best in the sixth game.

Opposing the Nebraska star will be Bob Shawkey, a curve ball pitcher, or Urban Shocker, noted for his partiality to the deceptive spitball. Shawkey is only three years younger than Alexander.

Shocker was Alexander's opponent in the second game at the Yankee stadium last Sunday, suffering defeat 6 to 3; when Southworth's home run proved the decisive blow.

Douthit, Cardinal center fielder who was injured in a collision in Wednesday's game with Hayne when both were trying for a home run, is expected to be able to play in Saturday's game.

Betting odds of three to two on the Yankees winning the series are being offered here Friday while the Cardinals are quoted at even money on Saturday's game.

Proof that whatever else the two local grid quads lack they have "hitting" power when it comes to tackling and putting a man out of play is contained in stories of the aftermath of last Saturday's game. Lawrence, in losing a close battle to Marquette, wrecked three Avalanche regulars, putting at least one valuable star on the bench for the season. At Manitowish three stars were unable to be put in for practice until Thursday and then complained of hurts received in the Appleton game. They were Danny Peppard, star halfback, who wrecked his leg when tackled hard by an Orange man, Hughes and Mahanke. Hughes is a stellar end and passer, grabber, and Mahanke, is a 210 pound tackle, who was laid out during the game.

Many members of the A. H. S. grid squad with take advantage of today's game with Fondy to see the Badgers in action against the Kansas at Madison tomorrow. All prep squads of the state are invited. When the Orange played at Fondy today, they were a "highly-looked over" team, if that expression can be used. The entire Kaukauna high crew and coaches were in the stands together with scouts from East and West Green Bay and Oshkosh, every important team on the scouting schedule this year. One bad advantage of playing on Friday, but then it would be done later anyway.

A few predictions for Saturday E. Green Bay 20, Oshkosh 3. W. Green Bay 14, Sheboygan 0. Marinette 21, Manitowish 0. Kaukauna 14, Neenah 0. LAWRENCE 14, OSHKOSH NORMAL 0. Cornell 20, Beloit 0. Ripon 7, Hamline 0.

Stilp, former all-around athletic star of Neenah high, played a part in the Oshkosh normal win over Marquette normal last Saturday. He played fullback in the second half and turned in some classy play. Bredendick, another Neenah boy, was on the bench with an injured arm. Stilp probably will see action against Lawrence here tomorrow.

Not since the days of Hotchkiss, the present Badger cage star, has Oshkosh high boasted of such a classy backfield as "Wib" Stewart, new captain of the team. He is a brilliant runner and handles the ball well. In the game against West Green Bay he was the whole show for Coach Schneider's crew. He is a former end and a two-year star.

WINS SECOND SERIES GAME

Holding the St. Louis Cardinals to seven scattered hits in ten innings of play, Herb Pennock, classy left-hander of the New York Yankees put his burst in the lead in the world's series Thursday by a 4-2 triumph. It was his second win of the series as he took the opener, 2-1, by letting the Cards down with only three safe blows. In 19 innings of world series play against the slugging, fighting squad, the frail Yank moundman has allowed but 10 safeties. He has won both games by one run margins after real pitcher's battles with Bill Sherdel, slowball southpaw star of the Cards. Bill also hurled great ball both times. Pennock can be used by Manager Huggins in the final game of the series if necessary as he will have two days of rest.

Cards Saved Expense of Lost Balls By Walking Babe Ruth

By MAJOR HOOPLE Egad, folks the festivities held last night in celebration of the general outburst of Babe Ruth yesterday, leaves me a bit foggy this afternoon. At a lunch luncheon by the scribes last evening in the Jefferson hotel, I was called upon time and time again to deliver speeches. (This gave the others a chance to get at the lunch luncheon, lineoutyper's note) I was in the company of Mr. One Eyed Connelly. I learned later from Nick Altrock that Mr. Connelly is strong man in vaudeville. He specializes in crashing gates. An odd act, indeed. Jack Ryan of Bloomington, Ill., introduced me to Mr. Connelly as One Eyed's closest rival. Egad, it is true that at one time, I was a strong man, but I never splintered a gate. However, I have learned on many of them.

I also have a very unique souvenir of the world's series to show the boys back at the Ovi's club. I am forced to wear it home, but after that, only on special occasions, by jove. Now then for the contest. When the yelling subsides I will continue. Most annoying, drat it. In the last of the first inning with the Cardinals at bat, two out and a runner on third, Bottomley hit the ball and threw his bat farther than the hit. I feared for the moment that the Yank pitcher would throw the bat to first with the bat. What an extraordinary play it would have been. The Cardinal business of office complained about the expense of lost balls during yesterday's game, and they saved $1.85 today in the fourth inning by walking Babe Ruth.

Bottomley scored the first run for St. Louis, and if I were near the bleacher section I would go into the whole business tomorrow selling discarded chapeaux back to the citizenry. Ruth saved the Cardinal club another $1.85 by catching a fly ball just before it fell in somebody's vest pocket, by reaching over the rail of the left field boxes. He got a bigger hand for it than the Statue of Liberty, by jove. In the sixth chucker Ruth struck out with two men on base. The howl that went up

YANKEES NOW FAVORED TO COP WORLD SERIES

New York—(AP)—No delirious greeting such as met the Cardinals on their return to St. Louis awaits the New York Yankees, coming home Friday to finish the world series. But the general feeling along Broadway, where opinions were amply backed by cash, was that the Huggins would look at all pitchers alike and win the series.

Odds of 2 to 1 and 3 to 1 were offered that the Yankees win the series. It was rather significant that with Alexander, Yankee tamer, scheduled to start the sixth game the odds were 10 to 3 on the Cardinals. One bet of 2 to 1 was that Alexander, if he started, would not finish the nine innings.

Cimmissioners estimated that more than $1,000,000 had been wagered here on the final game at St. Louis. The total of wagers on the series is expected to exceed $10,000,000.

PACKERS WORK HARD FOR CARDINAL GAME

Heavy Ticket Sale for Sunday as Cards Leave Home Lot for 1st Time

Green Bay — That football is to Green Bay what baseball, at the present time, is to St. Louis, is evidenced by the heavy advance ticket sale for Sunday's gridiron classic, in which game the Green Bay Packers hope to turn back the Chicago Cardinals with the short end of the count.

Ticket agencies have been established at Appleton and Neenah to make things more convenient for fans in that section, and everything is being done locally to insure proper handling of the duets.

INVITE SPORT DIGNITARIES Many sport dignitaries of the state will be in attendance at the game, and several football coaches of high schools and colleges also are expected. An invitation has been issued to Joe Carr, president of the National Football League, to attend the game.

George Downer, sports editor for the Milwaukee Sentinel, a former professional football referee, and until a year ago coach of the Milwaukee Normal school football squad, will be on the job. Mr. Downer will be in Minneapolis Saturday "covering" the Notre Dame-Minnesota game and will stop here on his return and write the story of the Packers-Cardinal affair, for his paper.

The Cardinals have a great following of dyed-in-the-wool supporters in Chicago and a delegation from that city is planning on accompanying the team here, according to reports.

While all this is going on, Captain Lambeau has his squad on the field every morning at 9 o'clock sending them through their paces. The stiffest preparation that the Packers have ever gone through has been the regular program all week, and by Sunday the boys should be at their best. Several new trick formations, which have been worked out and perfected so that the Cardinals will have to combat a varied attack when the Packers start their touchdown processes.

GEORGIA, YALE GAME IS FEATURE IN EAST

New York — (AP)—Georgia invades the Yale bowl Saturday in the feature contest of the day's football games in the east.

Harvard, which will play Holy Cross, is struggling with misfortune and a new system. Many regulars were relegated to the subs as the result of last week's defeat by Geneva. Injuries and scholastic standing have affected the other teams.

Princeton is hoping for a large score against Washington and Lee. Dartmouth is preparing for Virginia Poly.

The Army has shifted its lineup to present the strongest front against the Elkins. Injuries probably will keep several of the Navy regulars from the Drake contest.

Lehigh battles with Brown at Providence. Lafayette plays Pittsburg and Rutgers is pitted against Washington and Jefferson.

More Experienced Players Batter Game Junior Highs for 25 to 0 Win

A game Roosevelt Junior high school squad, playing against a more experienced group of players, lost a hard-fought battle at Lawrence field Thursday afternoon. The third of Appleton high school, composed of varsity reserves, took the battle by a 25-0 score, though the game was closer than the score indicates with the junior boys scrapping for every inch of ground.

Bowliby, Gelbke and Bob Kunitz were stars of the reserve rear wall, tearing off long gains. Kunitz starred on defense with several free tackles and Bowliby ran the squad well. Gelbke tore off several sensational runs through the entire Roosevelt team, two of which resulted in markers. He scored three touchdowns and Kunitz got the fourth. The only time the Juniors threatened the opposing goal when a reserve fumbled a kickoff. It was recovered by a Roosevelt man but the Juniors were held. An attempted dropkick from the 25-yard line went wide by a close margin and Bowliby carried the ball back 25 yards.

Berg and Kneip starred in the Roosevelt rear wall with Johnson and Reetz going good in the line. The work of Berg stamps him as future senior high material.

WHITE SOX TAKE CITY SERIES FROM BRUINS Chicago—(AP)—Whatever happens in the world series, Chicago has reason to believe in American League superiority.

The White Sox came out on top in the annual city series by defeating the Cubs, 3 to 0 in a play off game Thursday, thereby acquiring the title which the National League won the year before. Ted Blanship pitched great ball for Eddie Collins. The Cubs used Charley Root and Sheriff Black.

Cardinal Regulars Ready To Take Part In Battle With Tough Crew Saturday

Kansas, Coached by Former Michigan Star, Regarded as Hard Opponent

Madison — Coach George Little's fighting Badgers were slated for a light practice at Camp Randall stadium Friday afternoon in preparation for the inter-sectional battle with Kansas' Missouri Valley eleven tomorrow. The Wisconsin coach has ordered a light workout, which will consist of signal drill and some punting, drop-kicking and place kicking.

The Jakhawier squad, coached by Franklin "Baldy" Cappon, who will be remembered as one of Michigan's greatest plunging fullbacks, and led by Captain Harold Zuber, 200 pound triple-threat back, arrived here Friday morning early 35 strong and limbered up at the stadium early Friday afternoon. The visitors appear to be a strong machine, as they have the size and experience, combined with the Michigan system of coaching.

The Cardinal staff has been hard at work all week ironing out the rough spots brought to light in the curtain raiser with Cornell last Saturday. The Varsity was sent against Freshmen teams on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon, working hard right up to 6 o'clock with the aid of the powerful flood lights at the Badger grid plant.

Realizing the importance of the contest, Coach Little does not expect to keep the five regulars on the bench who were not permitted to take part in the opener. Capt. Harmon has been working at halfback post all week, and undoubtedly will take the field at the start. Jefferson Burrus is now in his condition, and will appear at his old position on the right extremity of the line.

Wilko is slated to go to the pivot job against Kansas, while Straubel should find himself at one of the tackles when the whistle sounds. Lloyd Larson, veteran guard, will probably be held in reserve for the more important games with Minnesota, Michigan and Purdue. The big forward is anxious to get started but he is two weeks behind his mates in training.

Art Mansfield, the towering sophomore from Cleveland, was sent into scrimmage for the first time this week alternating with Crofoot at quarterback. He looked like Big Ten calibre, and no doubt will have an opportunity to prove his worth Saturday.

Tom Lieb, line coach, ordered many hours of fundamentals for his charges, and expects the forward wall to exhibit a real offensive against the Valley outfit. If necessary, changes will be made for the new member will not permit the blocking of punts that occurred last week. Ted Thelander, a rangy recruit, has been used some

KANSAS EXPECTED TO GIVE BADGERS REAL HARD BATTLE

Former Pupil of Little Has Strong Squad in Spite of Opening Showing

Lawrence, Kan.—The University of Kansas football team is still very much of an unknown quantity, but reports from Madison state that Coach Little's Wisconsin scouts were much impressed by the Jayhawkers showing.

The opening game went into the win column, 14 to 6, over Washburn college of Topeka, but it was played in mud and rain. Consequently no definite line on his material was secured by Coach Franklin C. Cappon, the new Kansas coach.

The score against Washburn is not entirely satisfying to Jayhawkers fans from the standpoint of assuring them of a winning Kansas aggregation this year. However, there is the item of one to consider and also the question of whether Washburn was unusually strong or Kansas weaker than the Crimson and Blue teams that have rather regularly moved down the Topeka collegians in the past.

Coach Cappon is bemoaning the fact that the weather conditions were bad because he was prevented from getting accurate knowledge on the power of the individual men. Having no line on the personnel from past seasons he was anxious to see his candidates under fire.

The Jayhawkers now turn their attention to the Wisconsin tilt at Madison next Saturday, but first continued rain has left the practice field muddy and that valuable time for getting into shape will be lost until more solid ground is available.

Wisconsin won from Cornell College of Mount Vernon, Iowa, last Saturday, 35 to 0. Kansas scouts report that the Badgers have a great passing machine, as much of the Kansas time this week will be put upon lessons in breaking up the air game.

Although Kansas scored but one touchdown on straight football against Washburn, there was considerable stellar line plunging shown in spots by the Jayhawkers.

FORM PRO CAGING LEAGUE IN STATE

Kimberly Athletics, Green Bay to Enter Teams in New Wisconsin Loop

Sheboygan—The foundation for an eight-club Wisconsin State Basketball league was held at a meeting held here Wednesday evening in the American Legion club room.

Applications for franchises were presented by Kimberly, Sheboygan, Kohler, Two Rivers, Manitowish, Port Washington, Green Bay and Reedsville.

A committee, composed of representatives from Sheboygan, Kohler, and Two Rivers was selected to pass on the franchise regulations and draw up a constitution.

The invitations of Green Bay to hold the final organization meeting at the Columbus club, Sunday morning, Oct. 17, was accepted and at that time, the temporary executive committee will report on the constitution and franchise applications.

It is expected that aside from the above mentioned cities, Fond du Lac, Chilton, Plymouth, Lena, and Marinette will file application for admission in the circuit.

According to the temporary plans, each spoke in the wheel will make two trips around the circuit. If this idea is followed out, the league season will probably get under way during the Christmas holidays.

The trend of discussion at the conference here showed that each of the club representatives felt confident that basketball is growing in popularity and that a compact 8-club circuit with short jumps would be an outstanding success. The mongrels were a unit in condemning the practice of "padding" and "padding" and he made to encourage the use of home-town basketball.

WOMAN GAME WARDEN DOES EXCELLENT WORK

St. Paul, Minn.—(AP)—Climbing her job by a daring capture of two illegal hunters, Mrs. Florence Stukel, one of the few women game wardens in the Minnesota state game wardens, has made a name for herself.

One cold wintry day last winter this intrepid woman tracked a pair of "poachers" from the scene of their kill deep in the woods to their automobile parked along an isolated road.

When the driver refused to halt Mrs. Stukel fired her revolver at a rear tire and punched it. She gained a regular post with the state warden force after conviction of her captives.

Mrs. Stukel, a widow, quickly graduated from an office position to field work. Now she fearlessly scouts the lake country surrounding a one-room cabin headquarters which she built.

Her companions are Miss Marian Colby, another woods enthusiast, and her dog.

Germany Perfects New Winking Doll

Berlin—(AP)—A doll capable of doing an optical roll and casting a wink as wicked as that of any flopper has been patented by a doll manufacturer of Coburg. The invention is said to be the greatest achievement in the German toy industry since the world war.

The inventor says the glass eyes of his dolls are moveable in all directions and are the eyes of the doll. By tilting the doll forward, backward or to the sides, he said, the positions of the eyes and eyelids change in striking imitation of human optics.

When Babe Ruth Busts Loose!

Wham! And away goes the old apple! It's Mr. George Herman "Babe" Ruth coming to life in the world series at last—first inning, fourth game, Sportman's Park, St. Louis, Mo. A home run? Nothing else!

And wham once more! Hard to satisfy, this Babe, when he gets in a bad humor! Here's the pictorial evidence of home run No. 2, third inning, same fourth game—both start and finish. See Pitcher Rhett out there, all misery-bemused, watching the pellet fly?

Great snakes—still another one! The man's gone mad! And so have the Yankee fans in the grandstand! Never before has a world series player hit three homers in one day! What wonder that the Yankee bat boy dashes out to pump Babe's hand as he brushes past the plate! A great day, this, for the Ruth person, for the Yankees, for the national game.

MODERN WOMAN'S DRESS INDORSED BY PHYSICIAN

London—(AP)—"Reasonably" short skirts and exposed necks and throats have an advocate in Sir Thomas Oliver, president of the London Institute of Hygiene.

"When it first became the craze for the greater part of the neck to be exposed, mothers frequently consulted me before giving their daughters permission to abandon 'high-necked gowns,'" said Sir Thomas. "At first I doubted whether it was wise for delicate girls who had repeatedly been treated for winter coughs to try such an experiment. But I soon found that the new fashion banished the winter cough and improved the general health of delicate girls."

Sir Thomas also believes that the growth of women's hair has been improved by cutting, and shorter skirts have greatly improved health.

AMERICAN BATTLESHIPS BACKBONE OF GREEK NAVY

Piraeus, Greece.—(AP)—Two American battle cruisers which Uncle Sam discarded thirteen years ago—the old Mississippi and Idaho—now form the backbone of the reorganized Greek Navy.

Bought from the American government just before the World war, these vessels not only played an important role for Greece in that conflict, but they figured conspicuously in the subsequent war between Greece and Turkey. They have since played a dramatic part in the various Greek revolutionary movements.

LONDON BRIDESMAIDS WEAR GAYER GOWNS

London—(AP)—Gowns for bridesmaids became much gayer as the London season drew toward an end, and many fashion experts are predicting very striking combinations in colors for autumn weddings. Miss Barbara Lewis Richards, who was one of the "lax" brides of the London season, was attended by five bridesmaids dressed in lemon yellow georgette frocks, the petal painted skirts of which were outlined in green. The bridesmaids wore wine red straw hats trimmed with velvet to match and carried sheaves of pink carnations and blue and purple sweet peas.

Heap Snow, Much Cold Is Lo's Prophecy For Winter

"Heap much snow, cold and ice," is prophesied by an old Indian living near Appleton. Several of his comrades have borne him out in his prophecy and they give various reasons for doing so.

One Indian said: "Heap much fur on large meadow moles, mean she getting ready for much cold snow."

Another said: "Sure sign, when crickets very black and make big noise and also when birds leaving early for south, it big sign that frost coming early and stay long time."

The old chief declared solemnly: "Me ate goose. Wishbone crooked. True sign, big snows. Much moss on north side of trees in woods, point to land of snow and mean all come here."

Many of the farmers in the country look on these prophecies as sure signs of a long hard winter, although some of them scoff at the idea. "All the old prophets are dead and the young ones ain't worth the powder to blow them to Limbo," one farmer said. "Never the less a good many of the rural residents are preparing for a hard winter."

OPEN TICKET SALE FOR SWISS YODLERS CONCERT

Plans for a ticket sale drive for the concert to be given by the Moser brothers, a group of Swiss yodlers, singers and musicians, at Eagles hall next Friday evening, were made at the weekly meeting of the Appleton Maennerchor at Gil Myse hall Thursday evening. The Maennerchor is sponsoring the concert.

After the concert, which is to consist of yodeling, vocal and musical instrument numbers, the Swiss musicians will furnish music for a dance. Each member has been allotted a number of tickets to sell.

WON'T PAY INTEREST ON ILLEGAL TAXES

Madison—(AP)—Attorney General Ekers today advised State Treasurer Leytan not to pay interest on a portion of taxes erroneously paid into the state treasury by the estate of Ferdinand Schlesinger, under certain inheritance tax provisions, which were held invalid by the United States supreme court.

The opinion stated that the interest should not be paid until the supreme court decides otherwise.

Probably, because Chief George P. McGillan, of Appleton fire department has been so active in making Fire Prevention week, from Monday to Sunday, a real prevention week in Appleton, there hasn't been a fire in Appleton up to Friday morning, and the firemen insist that there isn't going to be one.

"After making all these speeches and giving out all the warnings," Chief McGillan said, "we ought to be able to do without a fire department altogether."

CHILDREN HELP HOLD PARENTS TOGETHER

Madison—(P)—Children are among the greatest factors in holding homes together according to statistics announced by the Wisconsin State board of health.

The board made public a statistical report in which it said that out of a total of 4,346 divorces, there were 2,207 or 45 per cent of the total with no children in the family.

"In some cases," the report said, "these children, as a result of the parents being divorced, are deprived of a suitable home and denied education, while in others the divorce results in the children being removed from an environment which is exceedingly bad."

WILSON GRIDDERS IN PRACTICE GRID GAME

The Wilson junior high school football team played a team from the St. Joseph school Wednesday afternoon at the Wilson field. Only a practice game was held for the purpose of giving both teams experience in scrimmage.

Bernard Riebe, physical director at the Wilson school, officiated at the game.

and not conducive to developing the children into healthy, self-supporting citizens. The influence of a good home in the development cannot be overestimated."

There's No Comparison Between Bartmann's Coffee and Ordinary Coffee

A coffee lover will detect the slightest lack of quality in his favorite beverage; and carelessness or oversight in its preparation will spoil his entire meal.

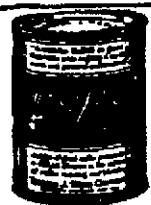

Appleton people who regard their coffee as a most important part of breakfast, lunch or dinner have come to know that they can always rely on Bartmann's Brands.

Its color—the fragrant aroma—its delicate flavor—make it a delightful beverage.

Good Teas in the leading brands always in stock. Clean wholesome foods at all times. Prompt Delivery Service.

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

200 WILL FOLLOW GRIDIRON TEAM TO GAME AT NEENAH

Miller Unable to Play Because of Cut Over His Left Eye

Kaukauna—More than two hundred townspeople and students are expected to journey to Neenah Saturday to attend the football game between the Orange and Black and Neenah High. Fifty-two high school students bought tickets at the local school Thursday and at least fifty more students are expected to go to the game.

The Kaukauna squad finished its practice at 9 o'clock Friday morning. The boys looked to be in good shape with the exception of Marvin Miller, right tackle, who, it is expected will be out of the game because of a cut over his left eye, suffered while practicing Wednesday night. The eye has swollen up and is practically closed. This will considerably weaken the right side of the line as Miller was one of the left in the line.

A short time ago Coach Smith had to take Miller out of the backfield and put him in the line to strengthen it. It is not definitely known who Smith will use in Miller's place.

Social Items

Kaukauna—St. Anne's court of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters held its regular meeting Tuesday evening in the north side Forester hall. A social hour followed the business meeting and prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Gertrude Fagan and Mrs. Rose Bodde and in five hundred by Mrs. Nancy Rutter and Mrs. Melvin Lindstrom. Plans were made for a Halloween party to be given later in the month.

Mrs. E. G. Driesen entertained the Playfare Bridge club at her home Thursday afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. Lester Van Roy, Mrs. John Maher and Mrs. Edward Dericks. The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Edward Dericks.

The Ladies Aid society of First Congregational church will hold a rummage sale in the church basement Saturday afternoon.

A regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the Lutheran Reformed church was held Thursday afternoon in the church hall. Routine business was transacted.

MISS VANEVENHOVEN IS EDITOR OF "PAPYRUS"

Kaukauna—The faculty of the Kaukauna High school selected Miss Vanevenhoven as the editor-in-chief of "The Papyrus," the high school annual, at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. Charles Bartsch was chosen as business manager. Miss Ethel Handman is faculty advisor. She was faculty advisor last year.

Work will be started on the annual immediately. The working committees will be announced in a few days.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—Oliver Miller left for Chicago Friday, where he will spend the day on business.

Olin G. Dryer, is attending the teacher's convention at Oshkosh Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haply of Sturgeon Bay, spent Thursday in Kaukauna on business.

P. R. Maginnis returned from a trip to Chicago Thursday evening.

Superintendent of schools James F. Cavanaugh motored to Oshkosh Friday to attend the teacher's convention in that city.

Mrs. Carl Holmes of Green Bay, is visiting with friends in this city.

SCHOOL CLOSED WHILE TEACHERS GO TO MEETING

Kaukauna—Children attending the schools in the city rejoiced with an added day of vacation Friday. Teachers in the high school and grade schools went to Oshkosh Friday for the Northwestern Wisconsin teacher's convention.

HILBERT CHURCH DANCE IS ATTENDED BY CROWD

Hilbert—The dance given by the Christian Mothers of St. Mary church was well attended. A. R. Kasper was awarded the embroidered bed spread.

John Grube was a Chilton caller last Friday.

Miss Evelyn Bartel of Potter visited friends here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Elliot of Plymouth visited the Jantz home Sunday.

Mrs. Dr. Deane left for Milwaukee Monday afternoon.

John Ahrens and George Eder of Colby are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wolf.

Ed Horneck of Kiel visited his nephew, Elmer Horneck, Tuesday.

Gust Underman moved his household goods into the W. E. Bishop home recently.

Norbert Thomas has moved his household goods into the home he bought recently.

The Eastside Meat market was sold to A. P. Mondrey of Brussels. The new owner will take possession Oct. 15.

John Grube, Walter Behlow, Herman Dekarske and Rev. Heschke attended to Plymouth last Thursday to attend a church convention there.

Mrs. F. Pieper, Mrs. Gertrude Weber, Mrs. William Fagan and Miss Willie Dechmeier attended the W. R. T. convention at New Holstein Wednesday.

BASEBALL REPORT TO BE RESUMED SATURDAY

Kaukauna—Each day the crowd grows that "listens in" on the play by play report of the world series baseball games "broadcast" by megaphone by the Appleton Post-Crescent from the second story of the municipal administration building. Many fans assemble at the building long before the time of play. The series will be resumed again Saturday with the St. Louis Cardinals meeting the Yankees at New York. The games will be "broadcast" to the people starting at 12:30 Saturday afternoon. The same is true for Sunday, if a Sunday game is necessary.

GIRL STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE DIES

7-year-old Child Succumbs to Injuries Suffered Two Weeks Ago

Kaukauna—Lorraine Hulda Lau, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lau, route 2, died at Appleton at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning from injuries in an automobile accident a week ago last Sunday. The girl was getting out of an automobile in front of her home, a block north of the city limits on the town line road and was crossing the road to her home when a car driven by Cornelius Van Epern hit her. She was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital and inflammation set in her head.

She is survived by her parents, three sisters, Zelma, Wilma and Florence, all at home. The funeral services will be held from the home at 1:30 Saturday afternoon and at 2 o'clock at the Lutheran church with the Rev. Paul T. Oehlert in charge. Interment will be in the Lutheran cemetery.

Honorary pall bearers will be Renada Gehrke, Mildred Bollack, Gerald Rogers and Lucille Hildebrandt. The bearers are to be Albert Bollack, Clifford Roger, Gilbert Arps and Lester Luedke.

HAAS IS COMMANDER OF AMERICAN LEGION

Kaukauna—Edmond Haas was elected commander of the American Legion post here at a meeting earlier in the week. Other officers named at this time were Arthur Schmalz, first vice commander; Louis Wilpolt, second vice commander; James McGrath, adjutant; Dr. E. J. Bollinske, finance officer. The remaining officers will be appointed by the post commander within the near future.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR ANNUAL FARM FESTIVAL PROGRAM

Parade and Band Concert and Entertainment Promised Visitors

Kaukauna—The Tri-County Fair-association has completed its plans for the annual harvest festival to be held in this city Saturday. Farmers have their grain and produce in and many will be in Kaukauna for the big day. In the morning there will be livestock buyers at the Dodge farm grounds to whom the farmers can ride livestock. Two bands will play all during the day. The Kaukauna Moose band and the Wrightstown band having been engaged.

There will be entertainers on both sides of the river. They will have trucks at their disposal.

A big parade is scheduled to start shortly after the supper hour in the evening. And this parade will be still bigger if Kaukauna high school comes back with a football victory over Neenah. A bon fire is planned for after the parade.

MOSES CALLED INVENTOR

Jens Juergens, a German engineer, has written a book in which he produces Biblical references to prove his assertion that Moses was a "powder, nitro-glycerine and dynamite merchant." He maintains that Moses held back the Egyptians by laying land mines which he exploded by well-timed fuses. The writer says the tabernacle was a well-equipped laboratory.

LESS FOREIGN BUTTER EATEN

Less butter is imported into the United States today than a year or so ago. During the first half of 1924 there were 16,955,773 pounds brought into the United States, but in the same period in 1925 less than 5,000,000 pounds came in and in the same period in 1926 only 3,978,565 pounds were imported.

Service Symbols

The Red Crown-Ethyl disc is a welcome sign. It flashes a friendly greeting to all who pass. "Hello! How are you? Anything the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) can do for you today?"

When you see a Red Crown-Ethyl disc, what does it mean to you?

If the gasoline is getting low, or there isn't enough water in the radiator, or you need air in your tires, stop at the sign of the Red Crown-Ethyl disc. A courteous attendant fills up the tank, puts water in the radiator, and examines the tires, with trained efficiency.

You go on your way, happier for the friendly service, satisfied that all's well with your car. Red Crown-Ethyl Gasoline in the tank is the best assurance you could have that there are smooth motor-miles ahead of you.

Red Crown-Ethyl never fails. Wherever you buy it, it is always the same—dependable gasoline that always means extra power—extra miles—and extra smoothness.

The Red Crown-Ethyl disc has a definite meaning for you. It promises gasoline of superior quality and efficient attention to your motor needs. It is the friendly greeting of a vast organization created and maintained to serve you.

EXPECT SERUM TO VACCINATE HOGS AGAINST CHOLERA

Six Hogs Dead, 15 Will Die in Herd of 80 on Muller Farm

Serum for vaccinating hogs against cholera, which has broken out in a herd of animals belonging to F. C. Muller, on his farm on Highway 47, about a mile north of Appleton, was expected to arrive here Friday, according to Dr. O. N. Johnson, local veterinarian, who has been placed in charge of the fight against the disease by Dr. H. D. Larzelera of the state and federal departments of agriculture. Dr. Larzelera was called to Appleton by Dr. Johnson immediately after the discovery of the malady.

The herd in which the epidemic was discovered belongs to Mr. Muller and not to W. J. Arnold of Appleton, as was stated in an article in Tuesday's Post-Crescent. Mr. Arnold, it was explained, had purchased the hogs and then sold them to Mr. Muller.

At the last count six of Muller's herd of eighty hogs had succumbed to the disease, 15 more were stricken and not expected to live, and it was impossible to determine how many more would contract the disease.

Because of a similar epidemic in the hog raising belt states of Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, there is a shortage of the serum to vaccinate the hogs against the disease and no steps against the spread of the illness could be taken until the arrival of the serum.

Although this section of Wisconsin is not dependent on hog raising for a living, farmers with large number of hogs are advised to have them vaccinated against the disease. Once a hog has the cholera, it will die, as no cure is known, according to Dr. Johnson.

HAVE TO SOAK CORN TO PACK IT INTO SILOS

"Shades of the 40 days and nights of rain, after all the wet weather we have been having it's a peculiar situation when a farmer must dampen his silage before it will pack," declared an Outagamie farmer Thursday, while cutting his corn crop and filling his silo.

The heavy frost thoroughly froze the corn and caused it to dry in that it is necessary to dampen the silage before it will pack and be of any use. The fields have become dry enough, except in low places, so farmers are able to harvest their corn crop. Nearly every farmer in the county is busy at this work. It is expected that farmers will complete the work within the next week and a half.

Spread Of Christianity Is Aided By Bible Criticism

Madison—(AP)—Modern criticism of the Bible has assisted in the spread of Christianity rather than detracted from it, asserted the Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington-Ingram, Lord Bishop of London, speaking here Thursday night before students of the University of Wisconsin. He discussed the piercing power of Christianity.

"The modern criticism of the Bible has swept away nearly all of those difficulties which existed in the minds of so many would-be Christians," declared the English prelate. "It has enormously helped us in our struggle for the spread of Christianity. It is absurd to think that the investigations of scholars into the Bible have in any way interfered with the inspiration of the word of God. They have merely brushed the dust off of the sword and made it more quick and powerful."

The modern business structure is too often "honeycombed with dishonesty," asserted the Bishop. The slogan, "Everybody does it," is the explanation given by business leaders he said, adding that "this is the way the devil glosses over things that are wrong." He continued:

"Today we are tolerating things which our grandchildren will look back upon with shame. Conscience has permitted modern man to accuse himself to almost anything. We need Christianity more than ever to cut through the callous outside of conscience and bring us to a realization of our place and purpose in the world."

NO IMAGINATION
"So much doubt in our generation is due to a lack of imagination. Our imagination has become dulled. We pay too much heed to little details of our lives that we fail to see anything great in Christianity.

"It is the greatest mistake to think that the Old Testament is played out," said the Bishop, speaking of the Creation as presented in Genesis. "It is full of teaching, although we interpret it differently today. We know that the story of the creation is told in picture and is full of wonderful teaching."

"We must bear in mind that the Bible was never meant to teach us science. We should take enlightened view of the Bible and yet hold firmly to the old faith. The Bible has never been shown to be wrong at all. It is only people's ideas about the Bible that have been wrong. But people's faith has been shaken because they have found out that on certain points the Bible was not scientific. The story or origin of the human race in Genesis was the account current at the time when it was written. We do learn in Genesis of the gradual evolution by which things were made. And the important point is that God made them all, that everything came originally from God, that he was the author of every form of life. It is much more wonderful to make that which gradually evolves into a watch than it would be to make a watch outright. When we look at Creation in that light, it makes God all the more essential, and it makes Him all the more wonderful. The truth of evolution does not in the least interfere with our belief in God."

The Bishop urged students to take a larger interest in Christianity, declaring that their returns from such a study would be greater than a study of any other subject.
